FULLERTON WILL BE HOST TO COUNTY RESIDENTS TOMORROW AT ARMISTICE CELEBRATION

Fullerton will be the mecca for thousands of Orange county residents tomorrow when they flock to that city for the annual county-wide Armistice day celebration.

With the most pretentious street parade in the history of the county celebration of the event scheduled to start the day, arrangements have been made to greet a record crowd. Members of the police departments of every municipality in the county have been assigned to traffic duty in Fullerton. They will be assisted by Legionnaires and Veterans of Foreign Wars in handling traffic and parking. A total of 42 uniformed policemen, more than 30 floats have been announced for Division Seven alone, indicating that this colorful section of the parade will be well filled. Other divisions have large entry lists in proportion, while more than a dozen bands and drum and bugle corps will provide music along the parade route.

Colorful Parade
According to Ray Starbuck, general chairman of the Armistice Day committee, entries for the parade, which will move out promptly at 11 a. m., assures the participation of nine divisions. More than 30 floats have been announced for Division Seven alone, indicating that this colorful section of the parade will be well filled. Other divisions have large entry lists in proportion, while more than a dozen bands and drum and bugle corps will provide music along the parade route.

Consider Traffic Problem
Because of the thousands of people expected to attend the celebration, motorists are advised to plan their arrival before 10:30 a. m. to assure convenient parking locations.

Traffic from the south during the morning hours should enter the city on Harvard avenue, an extension of North Lemon street from Anaheim, or by way of Garden Grove road and Nicholas avenue in Fullerton. Highland avenue into the city from Orange-thorpe road also will be open.

All sections of the city south of open for parking, as well areas east and west of Spadra road north of Commonwealth avenue off the actual parade route.

Parade Route
The parade route starting on Commonwealth avenue, east of Harvard avenue, heads west on Commonwealth avenue to Pomona avenue, thence north to Chapman avenue, where it turns west one block to Spadra road, to head southward on Spadra road to Commonwealth avenue, thence westerly on Commonwealth avenue to disband at Richman avenue, five blocks west of Spadra road.

The reviewing stand where judges are to be located and distinguished guests given seats of honor, will be on Spadra road in front of the California hotel where Armistice Day headquarters are located. A public address system is to be in operation at the stand. All bands are to play and all marching units are to pass in official review at this point.

ENTIRE WORLD MOURNS DEATH OF JAMES RAMSAY MACDONALD

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Leaders of all political parties, friends and enemies, paid tribute today to James Ramsay MacDonald, Britain's first labor prime minister, while the liner Reina Del Pacifico aboard which he died last night, made its way to Bermuda.

Men who had denounced him as a pacifist and as a traitor to the labor party, joined in praising MacDonald as a man who had fought hard for 50 years for the things he thought were right.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, conservative, Sir Archibald Sinclair, liberal, and Maj. Clement Attlee, labor, leaders of the three great parties, were expected to speak in the House of Commons this afternoon in praise of him.

It was expected that MacDonald's body, after its arrival at Bermuda Monday, would be returned to Britain for burial at Lossiemouth, Scotland, his birthplace. There, in the little fishing village overlooking Moray Firth which he loved—and which ostracized him for years as a pacifist traitor—he will lie beside the wife whom he had mourned deeply for 26 years. She died in 1911.

MacDonald, seeking rest in a cruise to South America, died last night. Heart disease was blamed for his death.

The few details that came from the liner said that MacDonald's end was peaceful.

For many months MacDonald had been deeply depressed. After turning over his prime ministry to Baldwin in 1935, MacDonald had served as Lord President of the Council. Last May, when Baldwin resigned, MacDonald left public life.

$100,000 L. A. FIRE DESTROYS FOUNDRY

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The sheriff's office investigated an arson theory today in a $100,000 fire that swept an aluminum foundry, cabinet manufacturing plant, and three dwellings last night.

All south side fire apparatus was concentrated at the blaze on east 63rd street.

Officials of the Central Cabinet Co. doubted the fire was incendiary. The plant experienced labor trouble recently but officials said this had been settled.

LOST CHILD FOUND
HELENA, Mont., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Safe in a warm bed at a hospital here after wandering lost in the wild Snowflake Creek country, 40 miles from here, for more than 48 hours, Patsy Eckley, five year old Corbin girl, was reported recovering today.

The child spent a quiet night sleeping away the effects of her ordeal. Meanwhile, more than 500 searchers who ferreted the heavily wooded gulch for her, returned to their homes.

Bullets Rain On Italian Cruiser

SHANGHAI'S DEFENDERS SEEK REFUGE

SHANGHAI, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Machine gun bullets rained on the decks of the Italian cruiser Montecuccoli tonight as Chinese and Japanese gunners engaged in a duel off the Nantao bund along the Whangpoo river.

A commander of the Italian warship mounted a loud speaker and demanded that the firing cease but the protest went unheeded and the crew of the cruiser was forced to take refuge below decks.

The duel started when a Japanese gunboat opened up against

$4000 Given S. A. Church By Martin

Glenn L. Martin, builder of the China Clipper and other Clipper ships now in trans-oceanic air service, has been away from Santa Ana for approximately 20 years but he has not forgotten his home town.

This was proven recently, when the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, revealed that Martin and his mother have contributed $4000 to provide seats for the new church which is nearing completion. The contribution was in memory of the late C. Y. Martin, father of the aviation leader, who died several years ago in Santa Ana.

Plan Memorial
Reverend Mr. McFarland said today that bronze tablet recognizing the gift of $4000 in the name of Martin's father, is being prepared and will hang in the entrance to the church.

Last spring when Martin and his mother were in Santa Ana he conferred with Reverend Mr. McFarland relative to a gift to the church of which he was a member when he lived in this city. At that time he asked to be informed of the greatest need to completely equip the new edifice at some time before completion of the work.

Several months ago he was given a list of things needed and sent a check for $4000 in the name of his mother and himself to cover the cost of installation of new seats.

Before dying, the robber picked up his severed hand, Sheriff Harry Patteson reported, and stuffed it in a pocket.

The men battled step by step down to the hallway. The robber, more agile than his aged opponent, slashed Elliott twice on the head with his knife. Elliott ran the robber through with the long blade, inflicting a severe flesh wound on his side.

"Gives Up"
Suddenly Elliott stopped fighting.

"I give up—I'll get you some money," he said.

With the robber close behind him, keeping the point of his knife in Elliott's back, the rancher went to the kitchen and reached in a drawer, ostensibly to obtain money.

Instead, he pulled out a .38 calibre revolver and fired three shots close range at the robber, who apparently died instantly.

One bullet entered the robber's head, one entered the shoulder and another pierced the heart.

Putting on a coat over night clothes, Elliott, suffering from loss of blood, walked half a mile to the home of Charles Shilling, Shilling called Sheriff Patteson of Sonoma county who took Elliott to the hospital.

PLAN DEFENSE FOR
"TRIANGLE SLAYER"

GLENDALE, Calif., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Paul A. Wright, who killed his pretty young wife and his "best friend" to erase the "vision of that girl sitting there kissing him," was represented by an attorney today and a defense of either insanity or the "unwritten law" was reported in preparation.

Wright, 38-year-old president of Union Air Terminal, is held on suspicion of murder. He confessed shooting Mrs. Evelyn McBride, 28, and John Kimmel, 35, traffic manager of the airport, when he found her in Kimmel's embrace.

Attorney Jerry Giesler was retained by Wright. He visited the man in the Glendale city jail late last night. Giesler was non-committal on the form the defense will take. Friends said, however, that Wright probably would base a defense either on "emotional insanity" or the right of a husband to defend the inviolability of his home.

Mystery Shrouds
Death Of Farmer

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Pressing his investigation of the mysterious death of Benjamin Marshall, 44, Fallon rancher, Sheriff Walter B. Selmer today questioned Harry Lane, itinerant wood-chopper, who said he had witnessed a quarrel between Marshall and his wife, Maria, a week before Marshall died.

"I saw Mrs. Marshall seize her husband, turn him upside down and shake him," Selmer quoted Lane. "During the quarrel, Mrs. Marshall threw a tumbler at her husband, striking him on the head."

Lane said he had spent a night at the Marshall ranch house after chopping wood for them.

BUSINESS MEN HOSTS AT MEET

Reciprocity, organization and elimination of the inefficient was the forceful message that was carried this morning to more than 100 persons who assembled at the Home Owned Business Men's Association conclave in history of the organization.

The theme of "what to do to bring success to our organization" was sounded in the speech of William Newman, secretary-manager of the Glendale National Breakfast club, who, with more than 50 members of the Glendale organization, met with the Santa Ana group.

Visitors Welcomed
F. E. Ronsholdt, president of the local group, opened the meeting with the introduction of Mayor Fred C. Rowland who gave the address of welcome to the members and guests.

Mayor Joe Baudino, of Glendale, responded to the welcome and extended an invitation to those present to attend the monthly meeting of the Glendale group to be held Nov. 24.

J. C. Metzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana association then introduced various city officials and special guests, including Joseph Smith, Ernest Layton, William Penn, all of the city council, police chief Floyd Howard, city attorney Lew Blodgett, City Clerk Ed Vogely and Judge J. G. Mitchell.

Methods Revealed
Newman, in telling of the methods employed by the Glendale group, pointed out that reciprocity is the vital necessity in the welfare of business men and professional men who derive their income from the local merchants.

"This reciprocity can only be carried out through close organization and the weeding out of the inefficient business man," Newman said.

Others present at the meeting were: Walker Davis, of Glendale, representative of the National Breakfast association; Rex Kennedy, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; Frank Harwood, Santa Ana postmaster; Max Green, postmaster of Glendale; Thomas Watson, publisher of the Glendale Star; L. C. Hoiles, publisher of the Santa Ana Register; E. F. Elstrom, and Joseph Guilfoyle.

The power commission charged that "there can be no adequate regulation of public utility rates in this country" until the court's present doctrine of evaluating utilities for rate making purposes is abandoned.

CONSUL'S ASSASSIN EXECUTED AT DAWN

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The Exchange Telegraph agency reported from Beirut, Syria, today that Meguerdich Karayan, convicted slayer of United States Consul General J. Theodore Marriner, had been executed at dawn.

Karayan had been adjudged sane by an extraordinary tribunal in criminal court. He had refused to submit to a medical examination.

Marriner was killed outside the U. S. consulate October 12. Karayan killed him because he had not been granted a visa to return to the United States.

Later developments showed that the visa had been granted but that Karayan had changed his address after applying for it, and had not received it.

He came here by airplane because of the serious illness of Mrs. John D. Hamilton, 80, who suffered a stroke recently.

Hamilton said he would remain here two days and then return to Washington. In December he will return to California for a series of political conferences, he said.

MARINE REPORT STARTS FUROR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Sharp differences developed today between Maritime Commissioner Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy and Commissioner Edward C. Moran, Jr., over the commission's report on American shipping to amend the merchant marine act of 1936.

The report recommended revision of the government's ship subsidy program and urged establishment of a maritime mediation agency patterned after the railway mediation board to deal with "chaotic" labor situations in the shipping industry.

Kennedy said he believed it essential that the proposed changes in the law be made at the next regular session of congress. Moran, however, opposed any legislative action until the act had been given a "fair" test.

Moran, one of the authors of the merchant marine act, was understood to oppose suggestions that the amount of the government's construction loans to ship operators be increased. Close friends said he believed that before this should be done, the commission should invoke section seven of the maritime act which would empower the commission to build and charter its own ships.

The report described American shipping a "very sick industry," suffering from a complication of outmoded tonnage and "disgraceful" labor conditions.

5,000,000 CHINESE HIT BY QUAKE, FLOOD

SHANGHAI, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Two million Chinese in Shantung Province are suffering from the ravages of floods and last August's earthquake. Dr. H. R. Williamson, secretary of the English Baptist mission at Tsinan, capital of Shantung, said today.

The suffering in the province has exceeded that of 1935 when 5,000,000 persons were made homeless when the Yellow and Yangtze rivers and their tributaries left their banks. In one area around 30,000 were said to have been drowned.

Residents of Shantung Province say the floods were the worst in 50 years, according to Dr. Williamson. At least 1,000,000 persons are homeless and others are in desperate need, the missionary added.

Steel Workers in
'BOYCOTT WALKOUT'

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—(UP)—A $2,000,000 expansion program at the Sheffield Steel corporation was halted, temporarily at least, today by what American Federation of Labor steel workers termed a "boycott walkout."

About 20 men, engaged in preliminary work at the Sheffield plant, quit yesterday when material arrived from a plant where the employees are not affiliated with the A. F. of L.

A bulletin addressed to foremen at the Sheffield plant announced that the expansion was being abandoned "due to difficulties beyond our control."

PLAN TO IMPORT MWD WATER IS COMPLETED

WHOLE COUNTY MAY RECEIVE NEW BENEFITS

Complete engineering studies of a plan to import Metropolitan Water district water into Orange county to serve sections not now included in the M. W. D. setup have been made by Paul Bailey, engineer for the Orange County Water District, and the results may be made public soon.

This information was brought before the Anaheim Farm Center last night by W. C. Mauerhan, water district director who said:

"We have been after the directors of the Metropolitan Water district for several years, trying to get a definite figure on costs of this water. Finally we instructed our engineer to make a complete study of the matter. We believe we know now what can be done, and have turned our report over to the Metropolitan directors. Something should come out of this soon."

125 Acres Acquired
Mauerhan reported plans are under way for the digging of a water-sinking pit in Santiago canyon. Contracts were to be considered today on the pits, which are to be vertical shafts 250 feet deep and probably five feet square.

The Orange County Water district also is buying land included in the bed of the Santa Ana river. Mauerhan reported. Already 125 acres have been acquired, and other acreage will be bought soon. This land is to be used for water spreading.

More than 200 members and their wives attended the program, which followed a turkey dinner.

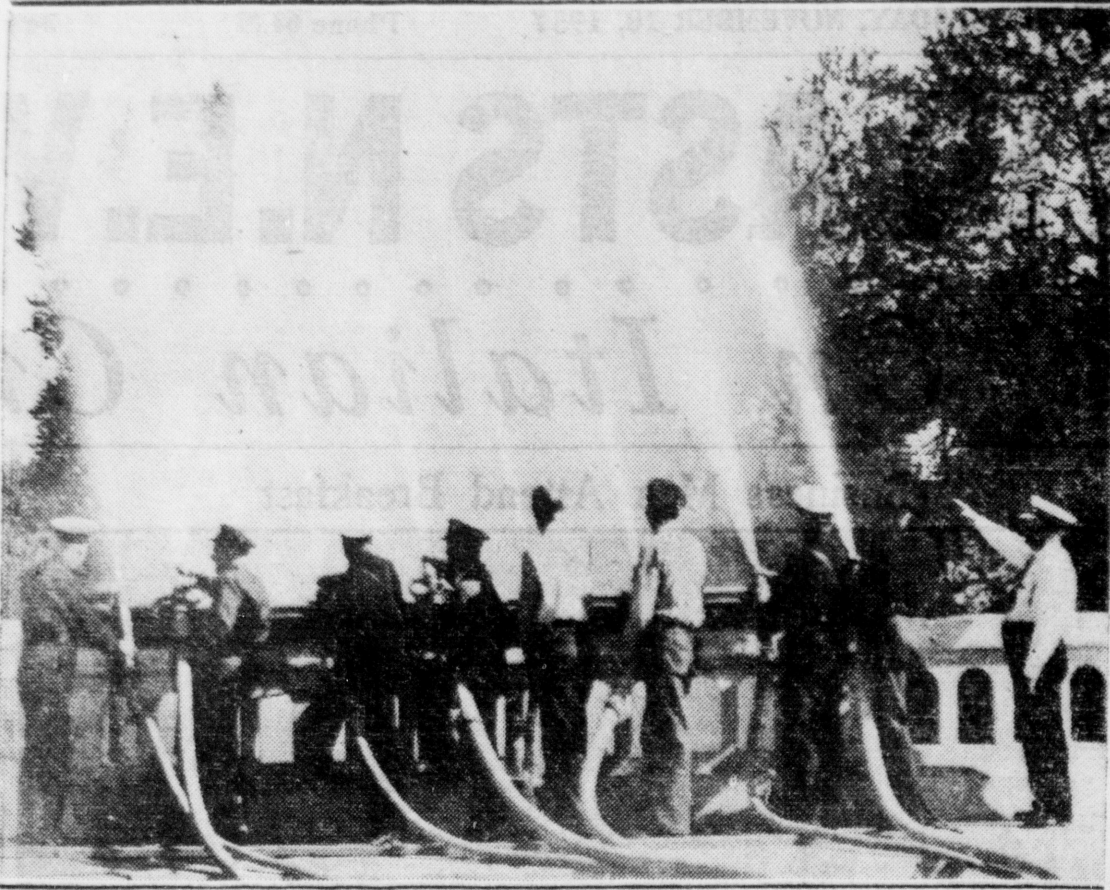

Tucker Speaks
Principal speaker of the evening was J. B. Tucker, Santa Ana attorney, who spoke on legal pitfalls which beset farmers.

Miss Ethel Campbell, Anaheim elementary school music director, sang two solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lyman Harpster. J. M. Sharpless led the group in community singing.

L. P. Halderman gave a report on the recent Farm Bureau directors' meeting in which he announced plans for improvement of the bureau's home at Orange.

The Anaheim center voted to pay the expenses of its president, Herman Friesse, and Mrs. Friesse, to the state convention to be held next week at Modesto.

New Pumper Shoots Water High

COURT TO HEAR UTILITIES CASE

The dispute revolves about two opposite rate fixing theories:

1—That advanced by utilities, holding that properties of utility companies should be valued according to the cost of reproducing them at current values.

2—That advocated by President Roosevelt, holding that utility properties should be valued on the basis of original production cost plus "prudent" expenditures subsequently for expansion and improvements.

The supreme court has upheld the first theory generally since 1888, and it was these decisions which Mr. Roosevelt referred to yesterday as "unconstitutional." The commission employed the "prudent investment" theory of setting rates. Pacific Gas and Electric promptly took the matter into the federal district court for California and secured an injunction against enforcement of the rates.

POLICE INVESTIGATE WALNUT GROVE FIRE

WALNUT GROVE, Calif., Nov. 10.—(UP)—Authorities today began an investigation of conflicting stories regarding origin of a fire which yesterday destroyed this city's Chinese quarter and claimed at least four lives. All the known dead were Orientals. Damage was estimated at $250,000.

One unverified report asserted the blaze was started by a disgruntled patron of a gambling establishment, who reportedly lost $2000 in the place.

Another theory ascribed the fire to a Chinese who fell asleep while smoking an opium pipe. A third report blamed occupants of one of the frame buildings who reportedly tipped over a coal oil stove.

Sacramento county public and private charity agencies, aided by the Chinese societies, prepared to assist some 500 Chinese who were made homeless by the fire.

OFFICIAL FAILS TO EXPLAIN WHAT HE MEANS BY "STENCH"

Mr. Talbert didn't explain what "stench" he meant. That was yesterday at the meeting of the county supervisors, when Supervisor John Mitchell asked T. B. Talbert, of the county probation committee, what was being done about the juvenile coordinator.

"We're letting that rest until the stench blows away," Talbert replied.

Neither official mentioned it, but both presumably referred to the controversy between the juvenile authorities and the county supervisors over the supervisors' refusal to provide the requested salary appropriation for the man the probation committee and Judge H. G. Ames wanted for the post of coordinator.

Mr. Talbert indicated his belief that there had been some "stench" attached to the controversy. But he didn't explain which side he thought it came from.

"BIG JIM" PREDICTS REPUBLICAN BATTLE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—(UP)—The current disagreement among Republicans over a midterm convention is a forecast of "bigger and better battles to come," Postmaster General James A. Farley told thousands of Young Democrats last night.

Charging that the G.O.P. was "the victim of its own success," and that "it almost literally fell apart not because of what it did but because of what it failed to do," Farley assured the Young Democrats that there was no danger of a serious split in the Democratic party.

Farley spoke by radio to those attending 250 dinners throughout the country. It was a celebration of the fifth anniversary of the election of President Roosevelt.

GEN. FRANCO HOPES TO END REVOLUTION

HENDAYE, Franco - Spanish Frontier, Nov. 10.—(UP)—Nationalist Generalissimo Francisco Franco has determined to start his "final offensive" in eastern Spain before the end of the month, reports to the frontier said today.

Hoping the offensive would cause the collapse of Loyalist opposition by Christmas, Franco ordered his ground troops and aerial strength to be ready for action this week end.

There has been no official indication where Franco's drive will be centered, but Nationalist sources at the border believed it would be around Teruel, approximately 100 miles east of Madrid. The Nationalists may attempt to penetrate Loyalist Spain between Teruel and Madrid in an effort to cut Madrid's last open road to the sea, or between Teruel and Zaragoza to cut off Catalonia from Madrid and Valencia.

MISSOURIANS WILL HEAR 2 SPEAKERS

Two noted speakers are on the program for the Missouri state picnic to be held all day Nov. 13 in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, according to Sam Sealeman, president of the organization. Both speakers are native Missourians.

One of the speakers will be Dr. Charles C. Sealeman, president of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., and the other will be Judge Parker Wood.

The program will follow the basket picnic dinner hour and will include vaudeville entertainment scheduled to follow the addresses and musical program.

WEST BLASTED BY ASSESSOR

better supervisor than he is.

Welcomes Investigation
At the same time, Sleeper welcomed a grand jury investigation of his own assessment work; said that such an investigation has been made every year for 26 years without anything ever being found wrong.

The 12 errors referred to by West as "appalling" were not the only errors that probably had been made, Sleeper said. He estimated that there were probably 60 to 70 errors in the 70,150 assessments of the county, and declared that the local record could not be matched by any other assessor in the state. Los Angeles county has more than 20,000 assessment errors per year, he said.

Collected $15,000,000

"I welcome investigation by the grand jury," said Sleeper, "as I have collected over $15,000,000 for the county since I have been in office; have been investigated by every grand jury for the past 26 years, without ever being short in collections. Nor have I ever had a deputy short in his collections, a record that no other assessor's office in Southern California can show."

"I also recommend that the grand jury investigate Supervisor West's actions since he has been a member of the board, to find why he has spent several hundred dollars of taxpayers' money to keep from buying a $115 typewriter, because he disliked the firm handling that make; also why Mr. West has disregarded the opinion of the district attorney in the matter of purchasing typewriters, in the hog-ranch case, and the Eden oil case, and put the taxpayers to extra expense by hiring special counsel for the handling of these cases. Also, it would be a very good idea if the grand jury makes recommendations that when the board of supervisors acts against the advice of the district attorney and takes a case to court, and loses it, members of the board should be liable for the expense they have caused."

Never Lost a Case

"As for the assessor of this county, he has been taken to court more than once and has never lost a case yet, though he has gone against some of the most noted attorneys of the state, before the board of equalization, in resisting attempts to reduce assessments of the large corporations. The assessor always has been sustained by both county and state boards of equalization."

"The assessor's office makes errors, but we claim our errors are no greater and probably less than any assessor's office in the state. And where we discover error we readily correct it."

There are 70,150 assessments. Our field deputies in a great many instances cannot contact the property owner, so must use their best judgment in assessing personal property. Where we find an error we adjust it by ourselves requesting a correction of assessment. This, we feel, is a duty we owe the taxpayers."

"Another occasional happening is the double assessment, resulting when the taxpayer personally pays his personal property in the assessor's office, unbeknown to the field deputy, who meanwhile assesses the office, unbeknown to the real estate."

"Quite often, too, there is an error in not allowing householder's exemption to all residents. When this is discovered we promptly ask a cancellation of the $100 exemption from the assessment."

"Then, sometimes, we do not get reports of soldier exemption allowed in other counties to taxpayers who also seek such exemptions in this county, in time to pass upon such exemption claims before the assessment rolls are

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 26c.

turned over to the supervisors as a board of equalization. In such cases we deny the claims. Then, if the report comes in, and we find the claim is good, we request the board to deduct his exemption from the assessment."

Three of the 12 "errors" cited by West, were such cases of soldier exemption, Sleeper said. Three others were cases of double assessment, the other six being clerical errors.

"As long as I am assessor," said Sleeper, "I will try to correct any erroneous assessment that is made by my office, whether Mr. West likes it or not, as I feel I owe such a duty to the taxpayers of Orange county."

heavy Chinese machine gun emplacements at Nantao where a surrounded Chinese battalion was making a last stand against complete domination of Shanghai by the Japanese.

Chinese Terrorized

Terrorized Chinese refugees and fleeing troops threw themselves at the barbed wire barricades of the French concession today, seeking to escape a merciless Japanese bombardment of the Nantao quarter.

Many Chinese soldiers deliberately cut themselves on the wire, believing that they had to show wounds to gain admission. Japanese shells shrieked over the International settlement and the French concession from north and west into the Nantao quarter, which nestles between the French concession and the Whangpoo river.

Japanese airplanes circled high over the United States cruiser Augusta as they set themselves for power bombing dives.

In Nantao, apparently 12,000 Chinese troops and militarized police remain as rear guards. Shells passed over the International area from two directions.

Shelling To Continue

A Japanese army spokesman said impudently that the shelling and airplane bombing would continue as long as Chinese troops remained in the quarter. He explained that at long range, the artillery could place its shells more accurately.

Japanese asserted that their troops advancing northward on Shanghai from Hangchow Bay fully occupied Sunkiang, 17 miles south of the city, and marched on northward.

Chinese received unconfirmed reports that a new Japanese force had been landed on the south shore of Hangchow Bay and might attack Hangchow, 35 miles inland.

Chinese spokesmen asserted that 34 Japanese transports, capable of carrying 50,000 men, were in Hangchow Bay and that at least 25,000 troops had landed.

The town of Amoy, on the heavily populated island of the same name on the south central coast of China, was bombarded for five hours today by six Japanese warships, the central Chinese news agency reported.

a barbecue has been arranged at Amerige park, within a block of the point of disbanding. National guard units, CCC corps, uniformed police officers, bands and drum corps and committee members will be fed free. The public is also welcome with a nominal charge of a barbecue lunch.

The afternoon program opens at 2:10 p. m. at the Fullerton union high school stadium where a flag raising ceremony is to precede the football game between Santa Ana and Fullerton high school teams, set for 2:15 p. m.

The annual Armistice Day ball will be at 8:30 at Fullerton high school gymnasium, where ample space is available for a large crowd. Dancing will be to the music of Lee Mann and his Sunny Californians.

Ach Cooke, adjutant of Fullerton Post 142, American Legion, is general manager for the celebration.

As the amount of water vapor and dust in the air decreases, the amount of light diffused from the surface of these particles decreases and thus darkness increases with elevation.

SHORT-CIRCUIT IN HORN GIVES TIMELY ALARM

Four persons had a narrow escape from death by fire at Seal Beach early this morning when the garage apartments in which they resided were destroyed by flames.

The four, Mrs. D. E. Gilson, her two daughters, Barbara, 8, and Evelyn, 6, and Mrs. Gilson's mother, Mrs. Sarah Glass, awakened by the continuous sounding of an automobile horn, discovered that the building was filled with smoke. Hastily grabbing coats, the four raced to the stairway leading to the ground and safety. Flames shot out from the stairway wall as the women and children descended, but they reached the ground without injury.

Automobile Destroyed
Cause of the fire is unknown. The entire building, consisting of six garage stalls and the double apartment above, was destroyed.

Apparently the fire caused a short circuit in the electrical apparatus of the car, causing the horn to sound. The machine was destroyed by the flames, while another machine was pushed from the burning structure.

The building was located at the rear of the Willard hotel, 150 Twelfth street, owned by Mrs. C. E. Smith. The hotel building was scorched but was otherwise undamaged.

The Gilsons and Mrs. Glass lost all of their possessions in the fire. Seal Beach firemen prevented the spread of the fire, which was reported at 3:15 a. m. Damage was estimated at $3500.

Mr. Gilson is a navy man aboard the U. S. S. Nevada.

SHELL DREDGE ATTACK MADE

Launching a verbal attack upon the rival firm, Charles E. Walker, Long Beach attorney representing the Newport Shell company, whose exclusive contract for dredging shell from Newport bay was recently cancelled by the county supervisors, yesterday asked the board to cancel a contract given the Jackson-Pickering company, now Jackson and Jackson, and intimated that suit might be filed against the county to enforce his company's exclusive contract.

The Newport Shell contract was cancelled two weeks ago by the supervisors, on the ruling of District Attorney W. F. Menton that its terms had been violated by failure to make payments to the county. At the same time the second contract, not exclusive, was granted to the Jackson concern.

Used For Feed
The Newport Shell company's lawyer yesterday protested to the board that there is room in the bay area for only one dredging concern, that competition beats down the price of shell, which is used for chicken feed, and that his company could not meet existing conditions.

The Newport Shell company already has sued the rival Jackson concern for damages. Attorney Walker said yesterday that his concern "might have to sue the county" to test the county's right to grant a new contract to the other firm in the face of the previous exclusive contract.

WESTMINSTER
WESTMINSTER, Nov. 10. — A six and a half pound daughter was born Monday morning at Community hospital in Long Beach to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mechell. Mr. Mechell is principal of Hoover school in Westminster and Mrs. Mechell is a former teacher in the same school.

On Sunday at St. Joseph hospital a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Foster. The Fosters reside in one of the houses connected with Westminster Memorial park. Mr. Foster being connected with the park.

Of interest here is the birth Sunday at Community hospital of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Brownmiller. Brownmiller resided in Westminster as a boy and Mrs. Brownmiller, the former Margaret Edward, spent a number of years here. They reside in Garden Grove.

HOW DOES SCHOOLMA' M SPEND HER DOLLAR? IT'S EASY, SAYS SCHOOL AUDITOR IN "SURVEY"

BY GEORGE HART
How does the Santa Ana schoolma'am spend her dollar? School Auditor Harold Yost gives the lowdown. The largest slice of it, nearly 28 1/2 cents, goes for rent or house payments, and the expense of furnishing and maintaining the home: utilities, appliances, radio and piano.

The next largest item is stockpiling. Of all school money spent in Santa Ana during 1936-37, the period covered by the survey, which was $701,227.16, food cost $165,841.36, or 23.65 per cent; shelter, $101,834.56, or 14.52 per cent; insurance $63,666.90, or 9.08 per cent; clothes $53,795.34, or 7.67 per cent; transportation $52,922.75, or 7.55 per cent; public utilities $52,518.38, or 7.42 per cent; furniture $33,518.38, or 4.78 per cent; investments $17,994.77, or 2.57 per cent; amusements $17,826.61, or 2.54 per cent; health, $14,652.89, or 2.15 per cent; church and charity $14,652.89, or 2.09 per cent; books and art $12,413.07, or 1.77 per cent; laundries, $11,556.43, or 1.65 per cent; lumber $9,870.07, or 1.41 per cent; music $8,392.57, or 1.20 per cent; sporting goods $6,719.73, or .96 per cent; advancement $6,664.01, or .95 per cent; hardware $6,425.15, or .92 per cent; office equipment $6,063.81, or .86 per cent; paint $4,579.46, or .65 per cent; electrical equipment $3,978.45, or .57 per cent; Y. M. C. A. rent $3,738.41, or .53 per cent; plumbing $3,448.13, or .49 per cent; post office $3,254.74, or .46 per cent; janitor supplies $2,427.15, or .35 per cent; miscellaneous $21,801.87, or 3.11 per cent.

Being healthy, she spends only 2 1/2 cents for medical and dental attention, and is lively enough to want amusement, but is no spendthrift, so her amusement bill is little more than 3 cents. She gives almost that much to church and charity, the donation being close to 2 3/4 cents.

Clubs and Lodges
Improving herself through reading and study, she spends a bit more than 1 1/4 cents on advancement.

The rest of it, slightly more than 7 3/4 cents, goes for miscellaneous purposes: cleanliness (laundry to you), beauty, jewelry, photographs, lawyers (oh oh), clubs and lodges, paint, (house), and other more practical items of hardware, plumbing, postage, etc.

That's the way her dollar is spent. That is, the dollar that she spends. She doesn't spend all of them. For every dollar she spends, she places about 12 1/2 cents in savings or investments.

Applies To Men
The same spending schedule applies to the men teachers, for Auditor Yost's survey, prepared for the board of education this week, covers all of the 230 teachers, administrators and health personnel of the schools.

These 230 certificated employees receive an aggregate salary of $534,535.53, or an average of $199.05 per year each, with a total additional income of $41,015.05, making a total average of $205.54 each.

Of the total $575,551.05 income, $64,301.45 is spent in Santa Ana, while $45,365 goes into vacation expenses and other outside expenditures.

Average Is $327
The average each employee spends $327.36 for groceries and meats, $45.95 for dairy products and $62.60 for restaurants; $287.40 for rent and home payments, $79.47 for utilities, $55.97 for furniture, $31.57 for home appliances, $18.55 for radios and pianos; $55.48 for payments on auto, $37.04 for auto upkeep, $43.74 for gas and oil; $135.45 for clothes and $20.78 for shoes; $32.58 for theaters and games, $19.67 for magazines; $136.16 for life insurance and $37.81 for other insurance; $41.84 for health, $44.06 for church and charity, $21.24 for advancement; $21.05 for drug stores, $32.69 for laundry, $27.08 for barber and beauty shops, $7.78 for jewelry, $10.74 for clubs and lodges, $29.80 for hardware, paint, photos, postage, lawyers, etc.

Percentage of Saving
Non-certificated employees of the schools (clerks, custodians, gardeners, secretaries and maintenance crews) who received total salaries of $98,639, only saved 2.47 per cent, where the teachers saved 11.17 per cent; They spent 4.05 per cent outside of Santa Ana, while the teachers spent 7.88 per cent. Of expenditures within Santa Ana, they spent more for food than the teachers, 27.33 per cent to 21.21 per cent; and likewise for home expense, 27.79 per cent to 23.01 per cent. Transportation cost them slightly more and clothing slightly less than the teachers spent. They spent virtually the same as the teachers for amusement, but less for insurance; more for health and less for church and charity, or advancement.

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, crusty or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or else poorly—your stomach pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-Lans for indigestion to make the stomach smooth again, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Bell-Lans is so quick it is sometimes called the 5-minute pill. Ask for Bell-Lans for indigestion. Sold everywhere. (a) Bell & Co. 1937.

SERMONS DRAW LARGE CROWDS OF MUSICIANS IN PARADE BAN

Evangelist Paul Tedstrom of Kansas City has been attracting unusually large crowds to the Four Square church during the special meetings he has been conducting there this week, according to the Rev. W. C. Parham, pastor of the church.

Evangelist Tedstrom started his series of sermons last Sunday night, using a huge oil painting depicting the Bible from Genesis to Revelations to illustrate his talks. His sermon scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight will be on "The Great White Throne Judgment."

To Show Pictures
At 7:30 p. m. tomorrow he will show stereopticon slides illustrating his sermon "The Mark on the Beast." At 7:30 p. m. Friday he will show pictures on "The Great Battle of Armageddon, the Last Conflict of the Age." These pictures will depict the last World War and the next World War, according to the Rev. Mr. Parham.

The Saturday night meeting will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. McGee, gospel preacher. The series of meetings will end Sunday night with the showing of slides depicting "Russia's Trail of Blood."

The Rev. Mr. Parham said that a special musical program is being arranged for the Armistice night service. This program will feature a group of musicians and singers from Angelus Temple.

While members and agents of the Orange county musicians' union, known as the Musicians' Mutual Protective association, would make no official statement, it was reported today that union musicians have been ordered to stay out of the Armistice day parade at Fullerton tomorrow.

The reported order is due to program plans which will include the featuring of bands using non-union musicians. Should a union man join the band, it was reported, he would be subject to a fine.

"Any information regarding any such order would necessarily have to come from officials of the Central Labor council," Milton Foster, business manager of the musicians' union, said today. "We have no radical union and believe that publicizing of information regarding any plans of that sort would be disadvantageous both to union and non-union men. I cannot make a statement on the matter referred to."

Jack Trendle, secretary of the Central Labor council, declared he knew of no such plan to order union musicians to refrain from joining the parade.

"If such an order went out, it went out from the musicians' union itself," Trendle declared.

Paint Stores To Close Tomorrow

All paint stores in Santa Ana will remain closed tomorrow in observance of the Armistice Day holiday.

Announcement of the closing was made today by E. R. Lentz, manager of the Pittsburgh Paint Company store in this city. Lentz said that the decision to remain closed all day was reached at a recent meeting of paint dealers in this city.

Group Depicts Gay Operetta

That Vienna Choir Boys can enter into the spirit of a gay little operetta of about the period of 1750, in Paris, is evidenced by their appearance here in one of the scenes of "Monsieur et Madame Denis," one-act musical comedy which is to be presented as one of the numbers on their evening program in Santa Ana. Their engagement is for November 23, opening the Santa Ana Music series.

MUSICAL ARTS CLUB GROWS ENTHUSIASTIC AS DATE OF FIRST CONCERT APPROACHES

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT
These last two weeks before the opening number on the Santa Ana Music series, the Vienna Choir Boys, singing in high school auditorium Tuesday afternoon and evening, November 23, are unusually busy for members of Musical Arts club, the group sponsoring the concert series. For with an advance ticket sale already exceeding 700, the club is confident that its goal of a thousand ticket sales will be reached by the date of the opening concert.

Variety marks this course. For with the Vienna Choir Boys as the opening attraction, the succeeding concert dates will be filled by such famous artists as the Bartlett-Robertson duo pianists, widely acclaimed for a superb artistry; Negro contralto, and Trudi Schoop and her Comic Ballet.

Musical Achievement. Santa Ana's success in securing Marian Anderson, is probably the greatest musical achievement in the city's cultural history. It is an achievement that has rather rocked the eastern musical world, for Miss Anderson's eastern managers have taken exception to their star appearing in one of the smaller coast cities. Aware of the interest that her engagement was creating here, L. E. Behrmer, Los Angeles impresario, wired the New York office that if the Santa Ana engagement were canceled, he would refuse to consider her Los Angeles engagement. Needless to say, the booking office would not interfere with their star's appearance in a city the size of Los Angeles, so the Santa Ana engagement was allowed to stand.

Already there has been an unprecedented demand from other Southern cities, for tickets for the night of February 16 when Miss Anderson is to sing. Music lovers who were unable to secure tickets when she sang before in Los Angeles, and fearful of meeting the same situation this year, are endeavoring to attend the local concert in order to be certain of hearing her. This is one of the reasons that have been urged upon Santa Anans to secure their season tickets early.

Give Dramatization. The Vienna Choir Boys have promised a matinee program upon the date of their appearance here, as a compliment to Orange county school students. They will include in this program, their dramatization of "The Beautiful Blue Danube," whose characters are "Frau Seifner," a laundress; "Herr Hecht," a rich fisherman; "Mizzi," daughter of Frau Seifner; "Franz," a soldier; "The General" and girls, fishermen and soldiers, forming the choruses.

A similar dramatic number will be featured on the evening program, with indications that the Choir Boys will present "Monsieur et Madame Denis," a comedy in one-act, based on music by Offenbach. In this rollicking little operetta, the Choir Boys will enact the

COUNTY GROUP TO TAKE PART IN OBSERVANCE

Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association will have an exhibit tomorrow in the California Hotel, Fullerton, and an entry in the Armistice Day parade to be held in that city, officers of the Association announced today.

Decision to have the parade entry and exhibit was reached Monday at a meeting of directors of the Association at which time votes of thanks were accorded to A. W. McBride, editor of the La Habra Star, for his description of the tuberculosis control program sponsored by the association, and to Lucinda Griffith, art instructor in the Santa Ana high school for preparing special educational posters and exhibits for the Armistice Day parade.

Christmas Seals. Mrs. Kenneth Haas of San Juan Capistrano was named as a new member of the board of directors bringing the board membership up to 26 persons.

Students in the Fullerton Junior College, Santa Ana high school and Junior college were reported to be addressing envelopes for Christmas seals to be mailed the day after Thanksgiving.

Volunteer groups such as the Girls Ebell and ladies aid of the First Christian Church of Santa Ana have assembled the seals, letters and enclosures. Earlier in the fall, the following Santa Ana groups folded the seals preparatory to assembling: Girls Reserve, Girl Scouts, Firemen, and women's groups of the Congregational, First Presbyterian, First Baptist, Methodist Church, Methodist Church South, United Presbyterian and the Church of the Messiah.

The following members of the board of directors were present at the meeting: LeRoy E. Lyon and Mrs. R. W. Balch, Anaheim; Mrs. Ray F. Wolfe, Brea; Mrs. J. Wm. Sanbury, Buena Park; D. J. Dodge, Costa Mesa; Mrs. Albert Launer, Fullerton; Mrs. Harry C. Meyer, Garden Grove; Mrs. Reginald McDonald, Laguna Beach; C. J. Brower, La Habra; Mrs. Frank D. Lewis, Newport district; Mrs. Clara Berg, San Clemente; Rev. A. J. Hutchinson, San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, Dr. Margaret D. Baker, president, and Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth, secretary, of Santa Ana.

Bats, snakes, and toads can live longer without food than any other creatures.

'Quack' Promises Cure

"DAMAGED GOODS" DANISH TENOR TO SING AT COLLEGE

The "quack" doctor must go! That is the edict from the White House, indirectly, where President Roosevelt assisted by Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon-General of the United States Public Health Service, is personally conducting a vigorous campaign for the control and ultimate extermination of the "red plague," the wrecker of more human lives than any other disease, the pitiless killer, which takes more lives every year than are extinguished by the automobile.

One of these unethical medical practitioners, who prey on human weaknesses and the desire for a rapid "cure" for their ailments, is pictured in his true light in Phil Goldstone's brilliant screen production, "Damaged Goods," which will be the featured attraction at the Princess theater tomorrow. In this eloquent celluloid document, adapted from the celebrated French stage play of the same name by Eugene Brieux, the "quack" doctor is played by Clarence Wilson, giving the part the subtle characterization and the manifold shadings it demands.

Pedro de Cordoba plays the role of "Doctor Walker," the ethical, humane specialist who holds out no false hopes for the unfortunate youthful victim of the blight which attacks every tenth adult in America, but does his utmost to keep his patient from falling into the clutches of unscrupulous colleagues and to eventually cure him.

INTER-CITY "BUREAU" ASSURED FOR 1938

MAYOR MANN BRINGS NEWS OF CONFERENCE

Mayor Charles H. Mann of Anaheim, returned yesterday from a meeting at San Francisco of the executive board of the California League of Municipalities, of which he is president, with a program beneficial to cities well on its way to be developed through the year.

Joint Information Service bureau, sponsored by the league to keep cities informed on how other cities have solved their peculiar problems, will be continued this year. This service was started last year and so far has proved a worthwhile project.

Homestead Exemption
Ballot propositions were considered and were referred to the public relations committee for further study before recommendations are made. Particularly affecting cities will be the $3000 homestead exemption, the act making it legal for states to collect for cities, and the act to retain all gas tax funds for highway purposes.

The league heard the report of the committee on uniform accounting and took it under consideration, discussed improvements for next year's convention program for fiscal officers, and discussed the influence which the league might have in an advisory capacity in the curriculum of universities training public officials.

The next board meeting will be at Los Angeles Dec. 12. Mann, in his role as president of the state league, has visited Los Angeles county, Orange county, and Citrus Belt regional leagues and on November 17 visits Imperial Valley league.

PLEA FOR MORE PATRIOTISM IS MADE AT CLUB

"As long as this country permits a foreign nation to drill its soldiers on our soil, wearing the emblem of the foreign land, a land that has nourished a hatred for the United States since our beginning, we may as well burn the American flag."

This was the statement of Ernest Wooster, of Santa Ana, in a plea for a more active patriotism on the part of every American, before the Santa Ana Rotary club in regular session at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon.

Fearful of Future
"I am an American by heritage and inclination," Wooster told the Rotarians, "and I want to see this country continue on in the great freedom it gives its citizens but unless active steps are taken to rid ourselves of the encroachment of foreign powers, I am fearful of our future."

Wooster was one of three speakers from the Toastmasters clubs of Santa Ana, sponsors of yesterday's program.

Other speakers were Malcolm Macdura, who told of the development of Toastmasters International and the aims of the organization, and Sam Long, Tustin, who gave a graphic talk on "I Am a Sucker, or, How to Lose Money at the Races."

Gives Criticism
Criticism of the talks were given by Nelson Visel, Dr. Edward Lee Russell, and Fred McCandless. Ralph Snedley, president of the international organization was in charge of the program.

Rev. O. Scott McFarland opened the formal part of the meeting with a tribute to Dr. John I. Clark, charter member of the Santa Ana Rotary club, who died last Wednesday.

Dave Smith, engineer of the Santa Ana fire department, made a brief plea to the club members to support the petition for civil service to be voted upon Nov. 16.

POLICE ON WATCH FOR SIGN VANDALS

State motor patrolmen and other police are maintaining a particularly vigilant watch for vandals who destroy or mutilate official road signs.

Wanton shooting and stoning of markers has been increasing this year, reports the Automobile Club of Southern California, official road signing agency for the Southland.

The club points out that such mischief generally indulged in by adult "marksman" hits directly at the motoring public which is guided and guarded by the direction and caution standards. It draws attention also to its standing reward of $5 for information resulting in arrest and conviction of anyone violating the state law against malicious damaging of official road signs.

Such information should be given to the district attorney of the county in which the offense is committed and notice sent to the automobile club.

VINDICATION OF LEON HENDERSON

WASHINGTON, D. C.—While all the margin-indeed commentaries mill around the ruins of the recent calf-market and there are the usual angry wails of "Who Killed Cock Robin?" it is only fair to remember that shortly after the leading government economists was warning of a coming business slump.

This was Mr. Leon Henderson of the WPA. At the time, I referred to his prophecies in these columns. Then the wave of sit-down strikes and the supreme court battle drove the subject from my mind and it was only towards the end of the summer, when resentment against the rising cost of living came into the open, that I realized how Henderson's thesis was being justified.

Leon Henderson holds firmly to the "purchasing power" theory of American economics. Our complicated business machine can operate only if the masses of Americans receive enough purchasing power to buy the products and services of industry and agriculture. Profits, in turn, depend on mass markets rather than high prices. Purchasing power can be created for this mass-market in three important ways: (1) by higher wages and shorter hours for labor, (2) by lower prices for industrial goods, including economies in distribution, (3) by governmental "pump-priming." The New Deal has been promoting purchasing power by the first and third of these measures. The President's last fireside chat referred to the second—business pricing policy. He now contemplates action in an anti-monopoly campaign which—it is hoped—will end uneconomic pricing and combat the effort of businessmen to escape all risks.

Mr. Henderson was urging his point of view a year ago and on last Washington's birthday he warned a meeting of government economists that we were approaching a business crisis due to the failure of purchasing power to absorb the speculative prices with which the "economic royalists" had attacked the foundations of the New Deal. His warnings should have been heeded, for he is no newcomer in the economic field. He worked for a long time with the Russell Sage Foundation, was with the NRA, shifted to Harry Hopkins' outfit, and was the principal economic adviser to the Democratic National Committee during the 1936 campaign.

He was not heeded. At the very time when big business was shaking an apple tree in a mad scramble for quick profits and while the Tory stocks in congress were blocking labor reforms, the government called off its free-spending program. Not only did the government reduce its net contribution to public purchasing-power but it took back some of the purchasing power it had created during the first Roosevelt administration, by bringing the budget into balance through the proceeds of the Social Security Taxes. Thus for the first time since 1930, Washington began to follow a policy of actual deflation.

This is such an important event that some figures are needed to show what has happened to the pump-priming, free-spending program with which the New Deal fought off the depression. For five years of unbalanced budgets, Washington had been building up purchasing power through RFC loans, crop loans, public works projects, PERA, WPA, Resettlement and farm security loans and grants, soil erosion payments, etc. This was new purchasing-power, created on federal credit, over and above all taxes collected.

This year it was assumed that the government could return to its stabilizing function and let the economy alone. The year it was assumed that the government could return to its stabilizing function and let the economy alone.

Hospital attendants discovered Mrs. Smith is suffering broken pelvis. Smith had a one-inch cut across the forehead from temple to temple, and fractured leg.

BUICK SEASON STARTS WITH RECORD SALES

The 1938 Buick season in Southern California has opened with nearly three times the October deliveries of last year, comparative figures released by W. R. Gordon, of the Reid Motor Company.

The large gains, indicating the quick acceptance of the new models with their coil-spring suspension and other advancements, also are national, according to information received from W. F. Hufstader, Buick general sales manager.

Highest Since 1929
"National Buick sales are the highest since 1929," said Hufstader. "Factory figures give a total of 4740 deliveries to customers in the first ten days of last month, as compared to 917 in the corresponding period of October a year ago."

CATTLEWOMAN CLEARED AFTER CONTROVERSY OVER HERDING

Charges of assault filed against Mrs. Marie Gosney, Bolsa Chica cattlemaster, and her daughter, Bonnie, by their Portuguese neighbors, following a controversy over the herding of the neighbors' cattle on the Gosney property, have been dismissed for lack of evidence, it was learned today.

Mrs. Gosney, informed by her attorney, Harry O. Warton, that the assault prosecution had been dropped, stated today that the charges against her and her daughter were the result of a controversy which arose when the Gosneys objected to having the neighbors' cattle pastured on the Gosney land, and attempted to drive the cattle away.

Mrs. Gosney announced that she is building a cowman on her 20-acre property.

orders are on hand at the factory to maintain this output past the first of next year."

Advance Orders
The automobile show closing tonight has been a further stimulus to Buick sales, Tuttle reported. The chassis and mechanical portions of the Howard exhibit are attracting more attention than any previous display in the long experience of the Buick distributor, the executive said.

High School Rivals Clash In Armistice Day Football Game

Giving them a chance to atone for a miserable showing in their last game of last year. Coach Bill Footo today named a "senior team" to start for Santa Ana High school against Fullerton in the big Armistice day football feature in Fullerton's stadium at 2:15. A capacity crowd of 5000 is expected.

Last year, in a desultory performance by a Saint eleven that was a topheavy favorite, Fullerton won handily, 12 to 0.

Tomorrow, 10 of the 11 Santa Ana starters will be seniors. Only junior in the lineup is Bob Webb, left guard. None of the left guards on the squad is graduating.

Footo first intended to have a couple of juniors in his backfield but reversed himself and now expects to use Seniors Ralph Pazenkopp at quarterback, Bill Collins at left half, Marvin Webb at right half and Bill Musick at full.

Captain Don Warburst and Milton Smith will be on the ends, Monte Klepper and Larry Stump at tackle, Bob Maddock and Bob Webb at guard and Harry Ashen shown to Ana last year.

Fullerton teams which have shown little through the season have a habit of staging their best exhibition when they meet Santa Ana.

Although Santa Ana has one of its biggest clubs in recent years, it will be outwigined in the line by Fullerton's forwards. The "Big Red" team has been on a spot because it lost to Glendale Hoover 24-0, and to Muir Tech, 41-7, blasting the team's hopes for a Football league title. The outfit started with a host of veterans and fared so poorly that, Coach Don Cruickshank was called before the board of education to explain if street-corner gossip of dissension in the coaching ranks were true. The board properly gave Cruickshank a clean bill of health.

In some quarters, Fullerton has been made a favorite over the Saints because it defeated Chaffey 7-0, whereas the best Santa Ana could do against Chaffey was a narrow 7-6 win.

Although both squads got away to a slow start, they have shown steady improvement and will be at their best for the traditional game. This series began in 1917 when "Shorty" Smith was managing the Saints and L. O. Culp was coach of the Indians. This year's conflict is the sixteenth of the series.

For these games the percentage is in favor of Santa Ana with nine wins to five for Fullerton and one tie, a hard-fought 7 to 7 game in 1920.

Away back in 1917 Santa Ana won 10 to 0 but in the next game, in 1919, Fullerton came back strong to win, 41 to 0. The next year came the tie score. Fullerton won again in 1921, 10 to 0.

Worst Fullerton lickings were in 1931 when Santa Ana won 32 to 0, and in 1930 when the Saints ran up a 59 to 19 score. Fullerton

COAST LEAGUE CLUBS AMEND 1938 PLAYOFF

SAN DIEGO—Amendments to the Shaughnessy play-off plan and a 24-week schedule were adopted by the Pacific Coast baseball league directors, adjourned yesterday.

The league pennant will be awarded the team in first position at the end of the regulation season, instead of to the winner of the play-off series. A special prize of $2500 will be given the first place team in addition to the pennant, while the usual $10,000 will be set up for the play-off.

The 1938 season dates were fixed from April 2 to Sept. 18, and a schedule for the first five weeks was drafted and approved.

The schedule follows:
April 2-3—Seattle at San Diego; Hollywood at Los Angeles; Portland at San Francisco; Oakland at Sacramento.

April 5-9—Los Angeles at San Diego; Portland at Sacramento; San Francisco at Hollywood; Seattle at Oakland.

April 12-16—San Francisco at San Diego; Seattle at Los Angeles; Hollywood at Oakland; Portland at Sacramento.

April 19-23—San Diego at Los Angeles; Oakland at San Francisco; Sacramento at Portland; Hollywood at Seattle.

April 26-May 1—San Diego at San Francisco; Sacramento at Seattle; Oakland at Portland; Los Angeles at Hollywood.

Bill Klepper reaffirmed his intention to resign the presidency of the Seattle club in favor of E. Lloyd Nelson, a stockholder, but expressed hopes of remaining with the team as a business representative. No further action relative to the proposed reorganization was taken.

Joe Bearwald, president of the San Francisco Missions, refused to disclose the identity of his successor when the club formally is transferred to Hollywood.

The league's next meeting is scheduled for Nov. 17 at Sacramento. The remainder of the schedule will be arranged then.

Grider's Arm Is Broken At Orange

Milton Meehan, son of Capt. and Mrs. H. C. Meehan, of 153 South Pepper street, Orange, broke his arm during a Class B football game between Orange and Huntington Beach high schools at Orange yesterday. Young Meehan's arm was fractured just above the wrist.

AFTER BIG GAME

BY GEORGE BRIGGS
(Santa Ana Hunter and Sportsman)

Alex, at camp, had heard the first shot and ran up the hill. He could see the moose but not me and was sure I had it on the last shot but I don't think so. We then went on to camp but Alex was so insistent about the moose being wounded that John came back early next morning to look for blood—which he didn't find. The mare had come straight to camp when she left us and Alex was just getting ready to try and find us by back-tracking, but we saved him the trouble by bombarding the moose.

The next day we packed up and moved bodily over to Willow creek, picking up the carcass of the sheep on the way. Here we had a nice camp and in what looked like really fine game country. There was plenty of grouse and from this camp, next morning, we saw what the boys thought was a big grizzly and after him we went.

Funny thing that both here and on the coast, a bear is a BIG ONE until after it is killed and found to be small. This particular bear was across the creek and on a hill the other side of the valley. I might never have seen it with the glasses but the boys picked it up with their unaided eyes, and then confirmed it with the binoculars. They thought it was big, of course, and so we started at once but prepared to stay for the day, if we failed to make the kill.

Poor Piece Of Stalking
This, I believe, turned out to be the poorest piece of stalking we were guilty of on the entire hunt. After crossing the valley and climbing a good part of the hill on horseback, occasionally losing and then again locating the bear which was feeding diagonally down the side of the hill, we quit the horses and started afoot for the last part of the ascent. The bear appeared on a sharp hogback that ran down toward us, was feeding on mossberries, and I wanted to wait for him, about 250 yards away, as the wind was right and he seemed headed our way.

John advised against this method and so we started up to meet him.

Presently he showed again, about half way down, and I prepared for the shot but again John said wait until he is closer, and right here we made the mistake that probably cost us the bear for I was plenty close for the shot. We had seen the bear wasn't a grizzly nor was he as big as we thought. It was a brown bear of the black bear species and of fair size, so

I didn't regret the loss so much.

Feeding On Mossberries

He was feeding along on mossberries that were scarce at this point and it was nearing the middle of the morning when bears like to find a cool, damp, shady spot and take a nap until along in the latter part of the afternoon when he will again begin to look for food. At this time of year bears should be (and generally are) rolling fat and a little exertion is too much of an effort. They eat anything they can get and sleep a lot so when the snow begins to pile up and traveling gets bad, and finding berries is a problem, they go into hibernation and have their long winter nap. Then when they come out in the spring they are in prime fur, long, silky and thick. You seldom catch bear in this perfect condition as the texture and gloss is delicate and a day or two of warm sun is apt to burn or injure this perfect texture.

The breeze was a little erratic and while we used the greatest caution, the bear must have got our scent for we never saw him again although we used all our craft to locate him. After a while we gave up the search. As it was getting really hot, we circled around and up the mountain until about 12:30. We came to a nice little open spot just under the peak, a cool little stream finding its way down the mountain side, some stunted spruce and a fine place to study the country through the glasses. There we made tea and had a rest.

Picturesque Country
It was wonderful to lay there and search the far places for game—hunting just at the edge of timber, with quite a stream breaking down from the snow field above, a pretty lake of some proportions a couple of miles away while down below and to our left a cow moose and her spring calf just in the edge of a patch of small timber.

And what is that white blotch a short distance beyond and above the cow? The glasses proved it to be a bull who had shed his velvet and his big horns were showing white against the green. When we set ready to start out again we while down below and to our left a cow moose and her spring calf just in the edge of a patch of small timber.

John advised against this method and so we started up to meet him. Presently he showed again, about half way down, and I prepared for the shot but again John said wait until he is closer, and right here we made the mistake that probably cost us the bear for I was plenty close for the shot. We had seen the bear wasn't a grizzly nor was he as big as we thought. It was a brown bear of the black bear species and of fair size, so

LOYOLA FACES SOUTHERN TEAM AT COLISEUM

LOS ANGELES—Loyola University's rejuvenated Roaring Lions were being readied at Playa Del Rey today by Coach Tom Lieb for their third game in 12 days, meeting the invading Centenary College Gentlemen, at the Los Angeles Coliseum, Armistice Day.

The return of five varsity linemen last Friday, after an absence from the Loyola lineup for a week, again gives the Lions one of the coast's mightiest forward walls.

These players are John Polich, first string end; Bill Magee and Bob Zwank, first string tackles; Carl Hovland and Bela Andorka, reserve ends.

The Armistice Day game is sponsored annually by the American Legion, and this year, according to Loyola's Graduate Manager Luddy Bremner, it will attract upwards of 50,000 football fans.

Coach Curtis Parker and 27 Gents arrived in Los Angeles today, Centenary held two workouts en route, one in San Antonio Monday and another in Tucson yesterday.

Defeated only by Baylor, the strong Centenary outfit holds victories over both Southern Methodist and Texas Christian and played a scoreless tie with Mississippi State. The Louisiana team is sparked by "Grandma" Stone, one of the South's leading backs.

Accompanying the team was the school band and the famous Maroon Jackets, a co-ed pep organization.

Following the Centenary game, Loyola goes to Beaumont, Texas, to oppose the Baylor Bears Nov. 20.

REDLANDS BULLDOGS OFF FOR SAN JOSE

REDLANDS—Redlands university's Bulldogs, fresh from knocking San Diego State college out of the nation's undefeated ranks, go riding out of the South tonight for an Armistice day clash with San Jose State on the northern's battlefield.

Two weeks ago San Jose was also claiming a position among the undefeated teams, but a tie with the San Diego Marines and a defeat by Santa Clara put the defenders of the unblemished class.

Howe Caulfield's RACIOLOGUE

•The world will little note our long remember what we say here—

HOLLYWOOD—Doodling: Don Ameche has a neck this long. Has to have shirts made with extra high collars. On the air the talk-invest of the Stroud Twins is Clarence. In real life Claude carries on

HOMER CANFIELD GINGER ROGERS most of the conversation. . . Ginger Rogers, when doing an air drama, has to hold onto someone's hand or arm during the dramatic moments.

Charlie Butterworth is a worrier. . . Ditto for Fred Astaire. You could have seen him backstage during Hollywood Hotel rehearsal for the preheating of "Damsel in Distress." Everything in the script but the periods had to be changed to fit the Astaire fancy. And still he wonders why radio people dislike working with him. . .

Following the cocktail party thrown by the sponsor after the premiere of GOOD NEWS OF 1938, a group played off to end up at a supper club playing musical chairs. Tiny Ruffner, one of the participants, was recalling the fun to Lanny Ross the next day. Said Ruffner, "Lanny, you should have been with us. We had a swell time!" To which Lanny replied, "I was." Must have been some party.

Audience . . . has place

Studio audience. To have or not to have them, that's the question. Diners resent—and rightfully—the laughter and handclapping on the part of the spectators when the comic, forgetting those outside the studio, allows and wears funny hats for a much needed laugh.

Those by their radios feel slighted. And who's to blame them? The program supposedly was designed solely for them, and here they are being left out of half the fun.

But there is this that can be said in favor of studio audiences: Without them our radio humor would be on a lower level than it is today. And as low as it is, it could even be lower. It may not seem possible, but it's true.

A movie is a shaky investment until the preview tests otherwise; a stage play holds its breath waiting for the reaction of the opening night; a studio audience serves as a direct barometer measuring the rise and fall of humor in a radio script. A joke isn't a joke without laughter. If a response is short in coming and a tired stooge must prance all over the stage begging and pleading for applause and laughter, it'll make Mr. Funnyman go out and scratch for better material come next broadcast time. If a studio audience can do this—and I believe it does—it has a definite place in the scheme of programs comic.

If a joke fails, he knows it immediately. He doesn't have to wait two weeks for a postcard from Peoria telling him if everyone held his nose. If he has to fall back on mugging or go into a dance to get a laugh when what he said into the microphone should have turned the trick, he'll put more thought and effort into the following script.

That is, most of them will. We still have with us the uncured humor who thinks a laugh no matter how he gets it. Leave him in the smoke house for years and he comes out the same. He'll mope and mope, frown he'll mug for a laugh. He'll slap stooges' faces, kick them in the backside, don't funny hats, turn around and reveal to the audience a hole in the seat of his pants—he'll do anything for a laugh, microphone or no microphone.

Take the audience away from him, and he'll sneak an aged aunt into the studio and pull the same stunts. He's hopeless. He's a holdover from the vaudeville era.

In the meantime our Jack Bennys and shows like the Charlie McCarthy hour are going along benefiting from the direct reaction of an audience. And rarely do they allow those in the studio to take precedence over those by their radios. Which is exactly as it should be.

Horace Heidt . . . starlines

His band is a whole show. . . Individually and as a unit they are as talented a group as you'll see or hear. . .

Was born in Alameda, Calif., May 21, 1901. As a youth wanted to excel in athletics. Attended University of California where he went in for boxing and football. . . Key man of Bear eleven carried out of a major game with a fractured back. . . Seventeen spinal operations have cured him completely. . . Now spends his days at golf, and thinking about his band. . . Heidt's Brigadiers are heard every Monday night on CBS. (KNX, 9)

Lest We Forget....

19 years ago today . . . Over There . . . a glorious silence in the lines after four hectic years of war. Over Here . . . mad rejoicing, and then an immediate turn of war effort into channels of peace. Nineteen years after, and still we cling to every effort toward Peace . . . the world's greatest and most worthy cause!

During the annual impressive tribute of silence, honoring our soldiers and sailors, living and dead, let us re-dedicate ourselves to those ideals for which they fought that they may not have died in vain.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Wedding Plans
Of Local Pair
Inspire Party

Reminiscent of similar affairs given several months ago preceding the marriage of the Frank Willis (Fern Farmer) entertained recently in compliment to Miss Barbara Christopher. Miss Christopher, daughter of the A. B. Christophers, and Carroll Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Clark, plan to be married at a pre-holiday ceremony.

Mrs. Willis received guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Farmer, 1221 South Parton street. Mrs. Farmer's gardens yielded the glowing yellow and white chrysanthemums which were arranged effectively in white pottery bowls.

The hostess had assistance of her mother in carrying out all hospitable plans. Miss Lenore McFarren, who scored high in cootie, was rewarded with a bubble bowl. Wanda Pennington was consoled with a vase, and a special prize of a white satin pillow was presented to the honoree.

Dining room appointments were in bridal white, as were details of the refreshments. Wedding bells showering from white ribbons overhanging the table, which was spread with lace and lighted with ivory tapers in silver candlesticks. Bride and bridegroom figures topped the centerpiece, a decorated wedding cake which was served with pineapple sherbet, mints and coffee. Small tables spread with white linens were centered with pottery bowls of yellow and white mums.

Miss Christopher was presented with bath towels from the assembled group. Presented with Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Farmer were the honoree and her mother, Mrs. A. B. Christopher; Mr. Clark's mother, Mrs. William M. Clark; the Misses Nadine Pennington, Wanda Pennington, Charlotte Quiggle, Ruby Tomlinson, Mary Tomlinson, Beatrice Dysart, Victoria Marr, Clara Cullen, Leola Worthington, Lenore McFarren, Dorothy Skinner, Dorothy Snyder, Louise Kirchner, Melba Lee, Mesdames Sam Skill and Charles Clark.

Former Santa Ana
Returns From Conclave

Miss Marie Jacobson, former member of Santa Ana Junior college faculty who is now head of Public Health Nursing department for the state of Texas, with headquarters at Austin, has just returned to her duties there after a trip east.

Miss Jacobson was delegate to the Public Health convention in session in New York City. On her return westward she visited in Cleveland, Ohio, and points in Virginia and Tennessee.

Miss Irma Jacobson of this city, is anticipating a holiday visit from her sister, who will spend Christmas here, and then the two plan to motor north to Palo Alto for a few days' visit with another sister residing in that city.

Armeses Members Plan
Interest Events
For Future Dates

Because of the opening tomorrow in Long Beach of the state Scioto's convention, Armeses club members held their usual social meeting a few days in advance of the regular date, and were entertained in the Earl Lindig home, 1019 Oak street.

All were delighted with the flowers which Mrs. Lindig used so charmingly in enhancing the attractions of her home, for the quantities of chrysanthemums in every conceivable autumn shade, were all grown in the home garden.

Mrs. J. F. McWilliams conducted the business meeting, during which plans were made for attending convention sessions, with headquarters at Del Mar hotel, in the nearby beach city. One new member was cordially welcomed at this time, Mrs. Claude Rains. Before guests turned their attention to bridge play, they joined in a feature which was a surprise to two birthday celebrants, Mrs. McWilliams and Mrs. Glenn Lyan. Both were showered with gifts, and those for Mrs. Lyan included a handsome luncheon set, expressing the club's appreciation of her year as president.

In bridge play which followed, Mrs. Lindig awarded attractive prizes to Mrs. Al Adrain and Mrs. Ray Graham, scoring high and low in the game.

During the pleasant interval when their hosts served an appetizing little Spanish supper on the flower-decorated tables, Armeses members discussed plans for their Christmas party, when Scioto husbands will be special guests. This will be held the night of December 8 in the Adrain home, 808 South Garney street.

Mrs. Lindig's guests were with the new member, Mrs. Rains, Mesdames Ora Jennings, Elmer Smith, C. A. Rousseau, J. P. McWilliams, Ray Graham, Glenn Lyan, Charles Ryan, Al Adrain, A. E. Muller, Will Curmott of Huntington Beach and Charles F. Mitchell.

Contract Play Studied
By Junior Ebell
Section

Continuing with zest, their study of the points of contract bridge under Mrs. Wells, members of Junior Ebell Contract Bridge section met last night in the clubhouse lounge, to enjoy the hospitality of a quartet of hostesses.

Mrs. Perry Davis, Mrs. Fenton Dean, Mrs. Russell Sullivan and Mrs. H. Raymond Smith formed this hostess group, and had planned for the serving of a tempting dessert course in advance of the contract session. For this, the bridge tables were utilized, each arranged with dollies and small turkey figures to suggest the approach of Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Wells talked at some length on different points in contract play before the group turned to actual play, embodying the principles of her instructions.

In the party with the four hostesses were the Misses Marian Brownridge, Violet Holter, Ruth Warner, Mary Tutthill, Maria Tutthill, Natalie Neff, Jean Ferrey, Mary Nalle, Betty Smedley, Mesdames Ralph Cunningham, W. H. Gay, E. J. Hanna, Chester Horton, Hubert Gohres, John Maxwell, Quentin Matzen, George Preble, John Scripps, Thoburn White, Joseph Winder, L. C. Davidson, Milton Poppett, Paul Hall, Francis Norton, G. Stanley Norton and Bernard Parker.

A renewal of those friendly associations shared when Lieut.-Comm. Irwin F. Landis of this city, and Commander John W. Morse of Washington, D.C., were yet plebes and midshipmen at United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, has been a pleasant phase of the Southland visit of Comm. and Mrs. Morse. Especially enjoyable was the dinner party given in their honor last night when Lieut.-Comm. and Mrs. Landis received at Pacific Coast club, Long Beach.

In planning this function as a compliment to the eastern guests, Lieut. Com. and Mrs. Landis included both civilian friends from this city, and various naval officers and their wives, now at the Long Beach naval base. No pleasanter setting for their hospitality could be devised than that afforded by the beautiful Long Beach club, which is especially popular with the naval set.

Tables reserved for the Landis party were arresting in their autumnal loveliness. Great shaggy chrysanthemums, coppery and flaming gold in shade, were augmented by clusters of purple grapes in a most effective decorative scheme.

Place cards repeated this seasonal motif, and served also for the arrangement of the diners into four courses for after-dinner contract play. Assistance in checking scores and in the varied host responsibilities, was extended by Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Mrs. George S. Briggs, Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon and Mrs. Howard Timmons.

Clever Prize Plan
Mrs. Landis had adopted a pleasant plan in awarding prizes for scoring, presenting two individual and one family prize. Mrs. C. Mortimer Plum and Mrs. James E. Liebig made the evening's high individual scores, while those made by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flag provided the highest combined scores of husband and wife.

Commander and Mrs. Morse, the guests of honor, expect to conclude their California stay shortly after Thanksgiving when they will depart for Washington. Commander Morse is now retired from active duty.

Of the naval group on the invitation list in honor of the easterners, were Vice Admiral and Mrs. W. T. Tarrant, Rear Admiral W. R. Sexton, Captain and Mrs. Henry N. Jensen, Lieut. and Mrs. R. P. Hunter. Santa Ana friends included on the party list were Dr. and Mrs. Dexter Ball, Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, Mrs. J. B. Roberts, Messrs. and Mesdames George S. Briggs, C. P. Boyer, Ray S. Chandler, Lloyd A. Chenoweth, C. V. Davis, Paul Dinsmore, H. T. Dunning, O. H. Egge, A. G. Flag, J. N. Harding, C. W. Eight et Forty Salon
Plans Party for December 20

Christmas party plans were made, and three new members were welcomed Monday night when Orange County salon Eight et Forty met in the home of Mrs. Yvonne Ackerman in Anaheim. Covered dish dinner was served to precede other events.

The next affair on the salon calendar is the annual holiday party, which will be held the evening of December 20 in the home of Mrs. Kay Rasmussen, 1415 Louise street. Gifts will be exchanged, and identity of mystery sisters will be revealed. New names will be drawn at that time.

Plans were made to provide a holiday basket for one of the children in Orange County hospital children's ward. This will be in furtherance of the salon's child welfare project.

Mesdames Gladys Lieberman, Lillian Thorpe and Donna Carpenter were the three new members received. They were "wrecked" at ceremonies Saturday night in Los Angeles, with 12 of the local members, together with their husbands, attending.

Mrs. Carpenter was winner of a contest which the entertainment chairman, Mrs. Josephine Payne introduced Monday night. The prize of the evening went to Mrs. Edna Franzen.

Present in addition to the three new members were Mesdames Yvonne Ackerman, Denny Black, Edna Franzen, Josephine Payne, Rose Mellett, Alice Hebron, Marie Kennedy, Rosann Hardcastle, Inez Haiber, Ann Leimer, Kay Rasmussen, and Miss Gladys Young.

Native Daughters

When Mrs. Eunice Fox, program chairman for Monday night's meeting of Native Daughters, announced a hobo party, she little dreamed of the strange assortment of wrecks of humanity that would assemble in K. C. hall for the event.

But it seemed that every passing freight train had disgorged its brake-beam passengers, as the Daughters arrived in rags and patches. They found a typical "jungle" in which a camp fire, logs for seats, and a pot of bubbling "mulligan" struck a realistic note.

That the mulligan was genuine, was proven as the evening drew to a close, and bowls and spoons were distributed so that the "hobo" might enjoy the fragrant stew. Doughnuts and coffee completed the refreshments planned by Mrs. Fox and her committee, Grace Cook, May West and Helen Brough.

A bit of seriousness was injected into the fun program when Hunter Leach, desk sergeant at the city police department, spoke on the coming civil service election. He was accompanied by Elmer Gates, assistant fire chief, and Edward Wheeler, of Fire Station No. 4. The election will apply to both police and fire departments.

The men also acted as judges in the costume contest, awarding the prize for the best-dressed hobo to Naomi Schoenrock, and for the worst dressed, to May West with Hazel Flaherty as second.

Half a hundred Daughters shared the merry evening, and the majority appeared in costume. Their president, Mrs. Mattie Edwards, announced a called meeting of the Thimble club for Friday when covered dish luncheon will be served in the C. F. Schroeder home, 2131 Lincoln avenue. Mrs. Schroeder will provide the meat course.

Advanced in date from the customary session supposed to have been held last week.

One-act Play Program
Is Read
For Quill Pen Members

Play-writing seemed to take the lead when Quill Pen club members met Monday night as guests of Mrs. Maynard Thompson of Orange, for two of the three program features of the evening, were one-act plays.

Mrs. Thompson received the club in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Donovan, 140 Cleveland street, Orange. It was the first meeting under the presidency of Mrs. J. U. Viaw, who was elected to the leadership at the last previous session in the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Frank Willsey.

It was also a welcome home to Mrs. Harry M. Smith, from her extensive autumn travels through the middle west. Mrs. Smith opened the program with a description of the wonders of Carlsbad Caverns, which she visited while in the southwest. The article was by the man who discovered the marvelous things of the huge chain of caverns, Jim White, a New Mexico cowboy.

The one-act play, "Over the Mike," written by Mrs. Blanche Brown, was read by Mrs. Donovan, while Mrs. Viaw read a second play, "Poor Uncle Willie's Gone." Both were discussed fully and the authors hope to have them ready to submit in the Community Players' Original One-Act Playwriting contest. A club member, Mrs. Frank West, is chairman of this event.

During the social interval which succeeded program features, Mrs. Thompson, assisted by Mrs. Viaw and Mrs. William Fritcher, served refreshments, with Thanksgiving nut cups adorning the convenient club trays.

Plans were made for the next meeting with Mrs. Emmett Elliott, 821 Riverline avenue. Manuscripts will be due from Mesdames Malcolm Macdura, Maynard Thompson and Marshall Harnois, as well as the hostess.

The Mixing Bowl

By ANN MEREDITH

Imagine Stuffing An Angel!
An easy chilled dessert to make for Sunday or some special occasion, requires one of the long loaf-style angel food cakes. Bakery cake or your own production baked in a loaf tin. With a sharp knife cut and scoop out the cake's insides, leaving walls an inch thick.

Filling For The Cake
Whip 1 cup double cream, stiff, then

Whip in 2 egg yolks beaten, strained and

Again beaten with 1-2 cup sifted powdered sugar, before combining with cream.

Whip two egg whites stiff and fold into cream.
Dice 3 rings of well dried pineapple
Slice 1-2 cup maraschino cherries
Quarter 1-2 pound marshmallows and add at once to cream.
Slice 1-4 cup walnuts.

After the cream and egg part are ready and marshmallows folded in, fold in all the sliced fruit. Spoon into the hollowed cake, and set on pan directly beneath the ice chamber to chill for 24 hours. Cut in slices, thickish ones, to serve.

Remember all the cake scraps that were left after scooping out the cake? Well, they will make a grand cake custard for some other day. First, toast them and crumble into a good custard. Bake in buttered ramekins and chill before serving.

Guests Learn
Of Plans For Winter Rites

Clusters of silver wedding bells accompanied the ribbon-tied scrolls on which news of the engagement of Miss Marie Lewis and Milo Ainsworth was recorded for guests assembled last night in the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Lewis, 1110 South Birch street.

Miss Lewis had fashioned the tiny scrolls, which with talleys of bridegroom and bride design were presented to guests early in the evening. "Marie and Milo, December" were the words revealing that the wedding will be an event of this season.

The engaged girl attended junior college following her graduation from Santa Ana High school, as did Mr. Ainsworth. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth of Orange, and is a salesman covering Southland territory.

Last night's bridge contest yielded prizes wrapped in white tissues and ribbons for Miss Gladys Marguerat and Miss Gwendolyn Griffin, who held high and low scores.

Many Flowers
Decorations for the party included an especially lovely cluster of red roses sent by the bridegroom-to-be. He provided an orchid for his fiancée to wear with her pretty blue crepe frock. Also representing the thoughtfulness of Mr. Ainsworth were gardenias for Mrs. Lewis, who wore green crepe; for Mrs. Dwight Ainsworth (Jeanette Lewis) who wore blue; and for his mother, Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth, who was attired in brown and gold. The marriage of Jeanette Lewis and Dwight Ainsworth, sister and brother of Miss Marie Lewis and Milo Ainsworth, took place in November, 1936, so special interest attached to the selection of November as the month for announcing the engaged pair's wedding plans.

Adding to the pretty setting arranged for the event were bouquets of white chrysanthemums. White rosebuds in bubble bowls centered tables at which angel cake, whipped cream dessert and other dainties were served at the close of card play.

In carrying out plans for the party, Mrs. Lewis and Miss Lewis had assistance of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Dwight Ainsworth. Others present were Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth of Orange; the Misses Fern Berker, Gwendolyn Griffin, Erlene Farmer, Evelyn Shepard, Gladys Marguerat, Emma Delle Fowler, Alice Boyd, Mildred Stickle, Mrs. Van Pomeroy, Santa Ana; the bride-elect's cousin, Mrs. J. B. Smith, and Mrs. Jerry Rummels, Long Beach; Miss Dorothy Scott, Monrovia; Miss Betty Blain, Arcadia; Mrs. Earl Hubert, Los Angeles.

Royal Neighbors

Magnolia camp R. N. A. welcomed a new member at its meeting Monday night in Modern Woodman hall, in the person of Mrs. Henrietta Carney. Mrs. Nettie Smith, orator, conducted the session, one feature of which was the impressive ritual when the charter was draped in memory of two camp members recently called by death, Mrs. Ida Echlin and Charles Tibbetta.

Various reports were given including that of the recent rummage sale successfully conducted by the camp. There was also an installation ceremony during which Mrs. Alice Tabb was installed as one of the graces, to fill out an unexpired term. Mrs. Lenore Farmer conducted this feature.

An Orange county R. N. A. meeting was announced for Monday night, November 22, with Huntington Beach as host camp. Magnolia Circle's next meeting will be Thursday, November 18, in the A. A. Schlusman home, 1201 West Fifth street, with Mrs. Schlusman and Mrs. Laura Dunlap as hostesses. Covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. This meeting was set at an earlier date than usual because of Thanksgiving week. On Friday, November 19, the Booster club will have a covered dish luncheon in the Laguna Beach home of Mrs. Rains, orator of the camp of that city. Parliamentary law pertaining to lodge work will be subject of the day's program.

Mrs. Agnes Buckwalter, who won the evening's door prize, was chairman of the committee which served refreshments at the close of the business meeting. Assisting her were the Misses Mary Schrock and Ruth Dunlap, Messrs. John Buckwalter and Walter Dunlap.

Oranges. Mix with sugar, let stand a couple of hours, giving an occasionally stir to make sure that all sugar has dissolved. Then store in clean hot jars and keep in the refrigerator. The longer the relish stands, the better the flavor.

I like to add 4 firm peeled apples, ground, and a little more sugar to my relish (the recipe used above) Mixed with lime gelatine the relish makes a delicious salad.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES

Not all the beauties in the country have gone to Hollywood to show off their talent before the camera. Here's one—a lovely brunette with crystal clear skin and a singularly placid, sweet expression—whose talent is at its best when she's before the typewriter as capitalizes. Her name is Mignon Eberhart and she writes best-sellers, the most recent of which is "The Pattern."

Wherever blonde Martha Stephenson, debutante daughter of Mrs. Paul Forester, goes, society photographers gather around. Tall and slender, the socially prominent, fair-skinned, green-eyed girl walks with a grace of a professional model, has a charming smile. In fact, she's done a bit of posing for commercial photographers. She smokes very little, doesn't drink even one cocktail, was born in Birmingham, Ala., just 18 years ago. This picture was taken while Miss Stephenson was having dinner with her mother at the Stork Club.

Red And White
Idea Prevails
At Gala Party

Suggesting in clever fashion the red and white theme which will dominate in the kitchen in the future home of Miss Norma Wilson, Miss Betty Vorce entertained at a bridal shower last night in her home, 1125 Orange avenue. The honoree, Miss Wilson, is fiancée of Howard Fitzgerald.

In giving the party, Miss Vorce had assistance of her mother, Mrs. C. H. Vorce. High scorer in bridge, Miss Grace Wurster received a nutcracker set, while Mrs. J. W. McMain's second high score entitled her to a nut grinder. The hostess deviated from the kitchen motif in selecting the low prize, which was a set of bridge talleys won by Miss Eleanor Wisner.

Red and white streamers and white wedding bells overhanging the dining room table around which guests assembled late in the evening when Miss Wilson was presented with kitchen shower gifts. A large bouquet of white chrysanthemums and slender red tapers provided a centerpiece at the table, which was piled high with the interesting-looking packages.

Big red apples from which radiated cocktail sticks with a variety of hors d'oeuvres centered each table at which guests were seated late in the evening. The second course included individual white angelfood cakes with tiny red rolling pin handles.

Sharing the affair with the hostesses, Miss Vorce and Mrs. Vorce, were Miss Wilson and her mother, Mrs. B. O. Wilson; Mesdames J. Russell Porter, Kenneth Crawford, Robert U. Smith, Douglass Ferry, Virgil Reed, Forest Bennett, Jack Rigel and the Misses Barbara Vorce, Lorraine Wheeler, Lucille Howell, Agnes McKinnis, Eleanor Wisner, Dorothy Preble, Norma Kenny, Irene Ross and Betty Howell.

Yesterday: Ardath sits for Alan as a model. Alan goes for a walk when the work is nearly finished, leaving her alone in his studio. Meanwhile, Jill arrives and is dejectedly greeted by Ardath.

CHAPTER XIX

JILL stared at Ardath, bewildered in her eyes.

Ardath! Fresh from sleep, her hair tumbled, only half-dressed.

Afterward Jill's eyes were going to be wells of miserable tears. But she was glad now—if you could call being hurt and proud and numb "glad"—that her face was not revealing her suffering. That she was able to look at Ardath coolly, proudly and with complete poise.

"Won't you come in?" Ardath asked, delighting in the situation. "No, thank you," Jill replied. "I'm sorry. I didn't know you lived here."

"I don't live here. Exactly," Ardath answered. Her voice was amused.

Jill turned and walked steadily toward her car, hearing the slamming of the door behind her.

Before she reached her car, she stumbled against a small figure. Small, bird-like eyes in a wrinkled face gazed up at her.

"You been in a kindy hurry," a quavering voice said, with a chuckle sounding in it, "and early. I didn't think pretty girls get up at sex o'clock."

Automatically, Jill pushed back the cuff of her coat. Her little jeweled watch was ticking on her arm merrily, as though nothing had happened to its owner. Both hands marked the hour. It was exactly six o'clock.

"I don't need those theengs," the old woman said. "I'm out every day these times. You can't fool old Rose."

JILL stood for a moment regarding the smiling old face. Rose! Once, maybe this ancient person had been young and beautiful and happy. Maybe, though, she had been as unhappy as she, Jill, was now. Perhaps she had found forgetfulness with the years.

On an impulse, she reached into her purse and drew out a bill, which she pressed into one claw-like hand. Then, Jill pulled the cherry-red woolen scarf from about her throat and wrapped it about the old woman's shoulders. She heard a startled exclamation as she got in her car. "God bless us!"

Jill looked back as she started the motor. The old beggar—she must be a beggar, for who else would be out at this hour—was staring at her with a dazed expression on her face. Both hands clutched the bright red scarf.

It was after the car rounded the corner that tears came, rolling down Jill's cheeks unheeded. She was conscious of many curious eyes. But she was past caring. Her world, a beautiful dream world though it had been, had crashed. Her idol had not been found with feet of clay, but with feet of mud. Alan and Ardath. An ugly romance between them.

She must stop thinking of him. She must go back home, and greet everybody at breakfast with a nice morning face. The face of a girl awfully happy over being engaged to Milo Montagne.

Jill shuddered. She couldn't go back now. She would go to Patty and stay until she could face the family with more composure.

She wouldn't wake Patty for awhile. She would drive for awhile and then go home.

DURING the time Jill was driving aimlessly about the streets with her white, strained face, Alan had reached his apartment and let himself in with his latch key. The place was now quite empty. A fact which brought a feeling of intense relief. In the rear room, the stripped easel met his eyes, and then a bit of blackened canvas on the hearth.

He smiled grimly. It had been a good picture. But he would forget all about it. Its destruction meant that Ardath Holm was now definitely out of his life. Which was a good thing. If she had hung around, she might have done some real damage.

The telephone rang later in the morning and he answered it uneasily. He was almost certain he would hear Ardath's voice faking penitence.

"Hello there, old chap." The voice had a familiar ring. It was, of course, it was—Vic Ainsworth, whom he had last seen heading for the grind of an English bank.

"Vic! Where are you? I'll take a taxi!"

"I'm sorry as the deuce, Alan. But I'm leaving for Louisville in a few minutes. Missed my train last night, all because a beautiful girl wanted your life's history. But it's just as well I didn't get off. There's something I think you should know—"

"Not bad news. Surely!"

"I'm afraid so. Lord Jeffrey isn't well, Alan. Mother wrote he was in poor health. I haven't the right to say so, old man, but I think this isn't the time for pride and family quarrels. Maybe I shouldn't advise you—but I'd like to."

"It isn't necessary." Alan's voice was husky with emotion. "I'm afraid I've been a selfish know-it-all."

He felt stunned. His father with his oak-like constitution! He couldn't remember the time he had ever been sick. He had an iron constitution that matched an iron will.

"I'll leave for home tomorrow," Alan said slowly.

"There's no great hurry, Alan. A good rest and seeing you again is about all your father needs to pull him around. I've an idea he should be getting out of harness, though."

ALAN smiled grimly. Getting out of harness! His father would never slip it unless he could place it upon his son.

He thought wearily: If it will bring the old fellow any happiness and peace of mind, I'll give up painting. Surely, he had done nothing with it of which either he or his father could be proud. "Sun Over Seville" was still in the hands of the dealer to whom Jill had gone. The dealer had persuaded Alan to allow him to place it on sale.

"I'll sail tomorrow," Alan said, slowly. "Thanks Vic for telling me."

"But Alan, your work. I'm serious. There's no reason to hurry home."

"There's no reason to stay," Alan replied, briefly.

"But you're coming back,"

"No, I won't come back." Vic Ainsworth said uneasily: "I don't doubt that your father has changed this past year. Softened. Don't smash your bridges, Alan."

He added casually—too casually, "By the way, the girl I was talking with about you was Jacqueline Wentworth."

"You were there!" Vic smiled. Then, he had been right. The electric note in Alan's voice told him everything.

"Yes. She was quite excited when I said I knew you. I gathered she thought quite a lot of you."

There was a silence, more illuminating than words would have been.

Alan's face had tightened with pain. Jill.

He was leaving Jill forever. Jill, who had shaped a world for him, and then had toppled it.

Child Conservation
League Forms
Circle in Santa Ana

Organized Monday evening, Santa Ana Circle of Child Conservation League of America will meet twice monthly to carry out a study program which has been adopted for use by similar groups all over the country. Mrs. Clarence Bond's home, 2019 Victoria Drive, was scene of the meeting.

With a charter membership of 24, the group has outlined a busy course of study to be carried on under the leadership of Mrs. Riene Chew, who was named president. Dora K. Johnston of Chicago, Child Conservation League field secretary, provided over the session, and conducted installation.

Taking office with Mrs. Chew were Dr. Stella Davis, vice-president; Mrs. Jasper Farney, recording secretary; Mrs. A. C. Honer, treasurer; Mrs. C. M. Gilbert, corresponding secretary.

Some idea of the object of the group may be given by the following quotation from the league booklet: "Every genuine mother wishes to be the best mother she can possibly be. To reach this goal, she must first attain a broad view of motherhood." It was pointed out that the league program presents a definite, orderly study of the child.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, November 29 at 7:45 p. m. in the Visel studios, 425 West First street. Questions to be discussed will be "What is parent education. Can parents educate one another. What are your goals for your children? Are you reasonably sure what to do when you meet difficulties?"

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Bond served refreshments from a table centered with chrysanthemums in autumn tones. Mrs. Johnston poured coffee.

Charter members of the group are Dr. Stella Davis and Mesdames Clarence Bond, J. B. Price, A. C. Honer, R. C. Echols, R. Carson Smith, Nelson Visel, J. Bridge Play Follows
Club Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hawk were hosts to members of their bridge club recently at Danagers, where dinner was served in a pretty setting to which chrysanthemums contributed their vivid hues.

Bouquets of mums also decorated the Hawk home at 524 West Santa Clara avenue where bridge was in play following dinner. Mrs. W. F. Kistinger and Mr. Hawk held the two highest scores.

In the group with the hosts were Dr. and Mrs. Kistinger, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Leive.

Visitor from Missouri
Feted at Gala Party

Coming as one of the pleasant highlights in Mrs. Martin Huffs visit in Santa Ana was a surprise birthday party at which she was feted recently by Mrs. Sam Cash and Miss Vera Cash. Mr. and Mrs. Huff, who reside in Springfield, Mo., plan to leave soon for their home after two weeks' visit with relatives in this community.

The birthday party hostesses gave the affair in the home of Miss Cash's mother, Mrs. Loretta Cash, 117 Cypress avenue. Flowers in colorful array expressed California greetings to the visitor, who arrived at the home to find a family group assembled.

Red rosebuds were arranged at the base of a pretty birthday cake, which was lighted with rose red candles. The confection was served with other dainties at the close of an informal afternoon.

Present were Mesdames R. E. McBurney, D. P. McBurney, W. R. McBurney, Roy Beall, Jennie Anderson, A. J. Smiley, Loretta Cash, and Miss June Estelle McBurney; with the two hostesses, Mrs. Sam Cash and Miss Cash, and the honoree, Mrs. Huff.

CHORAL CONCERT IS GIVEN AT HOSPITAL

The choral concert given by the Federal Music Project chorus unit was well received in its initial appearance at the Orange County hospital last evening, according to expressions of appreciation tendered the group by the patients and members of the hospital staff.

Beginning November 15, Jack Fisher park, adjacent to Santiago creek, on North Flower street, will be closed evenings until about March 1, as a measure of economy. Dale Griggs, park superintendent reported today.

The chorus, directed by Dudley Page Harper, sang in five wards presenting a light program of early American folk songs and other familiar selections. The enjoyment of the concert occasioned together

With requests that the group appear there once a month brought the announcement that project officials will give their endorsement to this arrangement depending upon the authorization of hospital authorities.

Friday at 2 p. m., the band unit will play for the patients on their regular monthly schedule. Dale Porter will conduct.

The smaller park could be opened at night by special request of groups, he added, but all church, lodge, club and other groups are invited to partake of the Santiago park hospitality. Santiago park has a recreational building in which as many as 50 or 75 persons may meet for business or recreation. The building is equipped with fireplace, in which weiners or marshmallows may be roasted.

CHEVROLET FOR 1938 COMBINES THRIFT, BEAUTY

Chevrolet's Master models for 1938 are designed to give owners a new type of thrifty car without compromise on its complete performance. To such buyers, Chevrolet is presented as a car in fullest measure that the public contacts indicate that modern motorists demand in their cars.

Performance, economy and comfort are carried to new heights in these models, without sacrifice of beauty or style. The cars are roomy as the Master DeLuxe series; they are powered by the same 85-horsepower six-cylinder valve-in-head engine; and they offer the year's outstanding engineering advance, the new "Tiptoe-matic" Chevrolet clutch.

Truck Sales Co.
OF ORANGE COUNTY
302 French St. — Phone 654

Like the Master DeLuxe again, they embody numerous refinements, in features affecting performance, comfort, safety, durability, and style. The result is an all-round heightening of the qualities which for the past three years have been generating a steadily-increasing demand for Chevrolet, with the result that production capacity has had to be enlarged again and again.

The principal difference between the chassis of the two new Chevrolet series is the use in the Master front axle for the fully-enclosed knee action now beginning its fifth year as a feature of the Master DeLuxe.

Externally, the two lines are almost indistinguishable. Body styles are identical. The Master DeLuxe models carry an embossed die-cast nameplate on the front end of the hood louvers.

Inside the car, the differences are correspondingly slight. There is a modification in moulding trim, and pillar switch for dome light, assist cords, ash receivers, rear window curtains and decorative sill plates are featured on the Master DeLuxe, except for the absence of a water temperature gauge. The cabriolet, in the Master series has armrests on the doors, similar to the Master DeLuxe models.

SAN FERNANDO MAN WILL FOLLOW TRAIL OF PADRES

Walking over the actual path in 1823 between Los Angeles and Mission San Francisco Solano at Sonoma is the ambitious six-week task undertaken Monday, November 8 by John Harrington of San Fernando.

His aim will be to locate definitely for the first time the true trail of the Franciscan fathers on that part of El Camino Real, the King's Highway, which linked the chain of the old missions. Equipped with camera, notebook, pedometer and other materials, he will attempt to discover unknown traces and evidences of the route, which differed considerably from the Pacific Highway of today.

Harrington, a university anthropology student, is the son of M. R. Harrington, curator of Southwest Museum in Los Angeles and widely known for his archeological discoveries.

Because of his extensive experience on various expeditions conducted by his father, young Harrington was a natural choice of Automobile Club of Southern California officials who arranged the survey for the difficult job of finding the mission trail. In the interest of re-establishing this romantic route in California history, the motorists' organization will publish a detailed account of the hiker's progress in "Westways," the club magazine.

Harrington left Los Angeles Plaza Church early Monday morning and by following the known path by way of Sunset boulevard and Calhoun Pass was expected to reach the northern foot of that pass by nightfall. The second day will take him to San Fernando Mission. His route in general will continue through Newhall Pass, Castaic junction, along Santa Clara river through Camulos on the Fillmore-Santa Paula highways to Mission San Buenaventura. From there it will ascend over the Castaic Pass to Santa Barbara, thence over San Marcos pass to Mission Ines.

Trekking slowly on foot as the Franciscans did, the modern trail-blazer will have to locate the exact way from dim traces on old maps transposed on government topographical sheets, and often from evidence and judgment alone, from Santa Barbara north. He will study records at all of the mission locations before ending the journey at the last-founded at Sonoma, nearly 500 miles north of Los Angeles. An effort will be made also to discover former mission asistencias and chapel sites on ranches where the padres were known to have stopped.

The one-man expedition was planned in part to stimulate interest in the movement for further restoration of California's historic missions of the period from 1769 to 1823. It is noted by the automobile club that the twenty-one missions represent a valuable heritage of vast interest particularly to California's touring visitors. The present undertaking is a continuation of that made some years ago by the club in which a hiker traced the actual trail of the padres from the original establishment, Mission San Diego de Alcalá, to Los Angeles.

DRUNK DRIVING PROVES COSTLY

"John Barleycorn is a Dangerous Passenger," warns the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California in a recent bulletin bringing out the following point:

"We all know that driving while intoxicated is dangerous to other motorists and to pedestrians. But what the intoxicated driver usually fails to realize is that it also is a perilous hazard, not only in physical hazard, but because it may cost him as much as $5000 or five years in prison, or both fine and imprisonment.

"Drunk driving may be only a misdemeanor, punishable by a $50 fine or one to six months in jail. But if by direct action or neglect a driver under the influence of liquor should injure anyone, then drunk driving becomes a felony punishable by a $5000 fine or one to five years in prison, or both fine and imprisonment, and revocation of the driver's license for a year or more.

"By resolutely refraining from driving if he has been drinking the motorist not only protects his money and his liberty but he also shows regard for the welfare of others."

CHRYSLER HITS BEYOND 50 IS DANGEROUS AGE

The Automobile Show just ending has been more productive of actual Chrysler sales from the floor of the show than any previous one we have experienced. That is the statement of J. R. Barton, Chrysler regional manager.

"We have always picked up many prospects at the show, but for floor sales, this one tops them all," continued Barton. "We have had a representative exhibit of eleven cars, which, while it does not show the entire line, gives a comprehensive idea of models and colors."

In turning out the new 1938 line Barton pointed out that Chrysler has spent upward of $2,000,000 to enlarge and rearrange the factory. Additional amounts were spent in perfecting processes that permit a higher standard of precision and attaining a quality of finish on working parts that will result in the virtual banishment of measurable wear.

KEEP MOTOR CLEAN. EXPERT'S ADVICE

With the rainy season at hand it is a wise plan to have the outside of the motor thoroughly cleaned, according to the emergency service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Oil, grease and grit accumulations often cover badly worn or leaky insulation, thereby contributing to short circuits and other motor troubles.

MALAYANS DISREGARD SONG PENANG, British Malaya (UP)—Cinema proprietors here have decided to stop playing "God Save the King" at the conclusion of performances because audiences "do not observe it in a fitting manner."

pedestrians lost their lives in Los Angeles automobile traffic during the first nine months, that 133 of the victims were 50 or more years of age, and that 105 of these were struck down after dark.

More elderly walkers were killed during hours between six and eight o'clock at night than during other like periods of the day.

These are conclusions derived by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California from records showing that 82 per cent of pedestrians killed by motor vehicles in Los Angeles during the first nine months this year represented victims 50 years of age and over.

Indicating that night traffic is particularly dangerous for elderly pedestrians is the fact that 79 per cent of fatalities to pedestrians 50 or more years old occurred during the hours of darkness. Club figures reveal that 213 pe-

DRIVE CAREFULLY - SAVE A LIFE -

CLOSER TOGETHER

Sir Samuel Hoare, British home secretary, remarks in a public speech that the United States and Britain are "coming closer together" in international relations.

"The paramount need of both of us is peace," said Sir Samuel. "The firmer we cling to our objective, the more closely our common purpose will bring us together."

This is all to the good, and the most ardent isolationist can hardly object to greater intimacy along those lines. The only trouble is that a common desire for peace can be used to cloak a drive for an entirely different sort of objective. Any program that is sincerely aimed at peace, Americans will support. But they are likely to shy away from it if it bears the faintest appearance of being a move to get another nation's chestnuts out of the fire.

MECHANICAL MADNESS

The Illinois gentleman who got 22 wrong numbers in succession over a pay station telephone, and finally vented his irritation by ripping the phone out of its booth and heaving it into the street, may have committed a deplorably illegal act—but probably he will excite the sympathy of all those people who occasionally get their toes caught in the age of machinery.

For when a piece of machinery goes haywire, it is infinitely more infuriating than any agent could be. It has a sort of mocking immovability that raises a man's blood pressure as nothing else can. A slot machine that won't give, or an auto engine that won't start—is there anything their equal for raising one's temper?

Our mechanical appliances make life smooth and easy, but when they do go wrong, they make us madder than any mere humans could.

CHIEF NOT ALONE RESPONSIBLE

A contributor in the Clearing House says it is an error as stated editorially in The Register to say that civil service ties the hands of the chief of the departments. He continues by saying that under civil service rules any person can be removed by preferring a charge.

Of course any man knows that the chief, if he can prove incompetency to some political board, can then remove an employee. BUT HE CANNOT REMOVE AN EMPLOYEE IF HE PERSONALLY KNOWS THAT THE EMPLOYEE IS NOT DOING HIS DUTY, UNLESS HE CAN PROVE IT TO A BOARD.

And often he definitely knows a man is incompetent but cannot prove it to a third party. Therefore, it certainly does tie the hands of the chief and the employee can stay on indefinitely, if the Chief cannot prove incompetency.

This is exactly what happens under tenure. They also can be discharged but not until there is definite proof of bad judgment. It is very difficult to prove bad judgment or lack of courage. So, in reality, civil service is as much tenure as anything can be.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

A great example of community co-operation is seen in the recent achievement of the little city of Olive in securing a greatly desired gymnasium and assembly hall. United efforts over a period of many months was responsible for approval of the structure as a federal project sponsored by the Olive grammar school district. Excavation work is under way and a dream is fast becoming a reality.

Church and school groups, the Olive Improvement association and individuals presented a solid front to all opposition and circumstances which interfered with plans for the $64,000 structure. To the people of Olive the building of the gymnasium means not only securing a needed place of assembly but it also is prophetic of a new era for the community. It spells expansion and progress—a progress that shortly will include the development of a beautiful residential district east of the gymnasium and the Olive grammar school.

Olive believes that some day it will indeed be "a city set upon a hill which cannot be hid." They believe that in the natural course of events one beautiful building attracts another. A number of fine houses have been erected in the past few years on the Olive hills where on clear days the blue Pacific may be seen sparkling in the sunlight across the deep green of orange groves and beyond the Santa Ana river valley.

One of the oldest towns in Orange county, Olive has a particular interest from an historical standpoint as well as from its topographical position—the gateway to the interior—at the mouth of Santa Ana canyon. At first the town was called "Santa Ana" and for many years it was known as "old Santa Ana" after the present city of Santa Ana was founded. It is an old community, a close-knit community as may be seen, where creeds and politics and individual opinions are forgotten in co-operative activity toward a desired goal.

What room can there be for friendship or who can be a friend to anyone whom he does not love for his own sake? And what is loving, from which verb (amo) the very name of friendship (amicitia) is derived, but wishing a certain person to enjoy the greatest possible good fortune, even if none of it accrues to one's self? —Cicero.

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

CAPITAL BENEFITS OTHERS FIRST

If there is any one thing that would add to the prosperity of our country, it would be to get the voting majority to understand that capital, in order to benefit the owner, must first benefit the customer and the worker.

If the voters realized this truism, then they would not think for one second of penalizing, or taxing, a man who added to the capital of the world.

Our artificial educators have perceived and indoctrinated the youth with the idea that one man's having capital, or wealth, necessarily deprives another from having wealth. They do not seem to realize that one man's having capital in no way interferes with another man's having capital.

Could the public be enlightened so they thoroughly understood that capital cannot be hoarded, that it has to be used and worn out in order to be preserved and that in order to be used it must first produce something that benefits a customer and in order to produce something it must employ labor and pay as much or more than the laborer could get working for himself or for anyone else, then we would have laws which would encourage the production and conservation of capital.

Then it would be possible for all people to get more for a given amount of work.

If there is any one thing in need of explanation in the press, in the schools, in the pulpit, in the clubs and over the radio, it is that capital must benefit a customer and a worker before it can benefit the owner of capital.

WHAT WE MOST NEED

What we most need is aptly described by John G. Holland, when he wrote:

"Men whom the lust of office does not kill;
Men whom the spoil of office cannot buy;
Men who possess opinions and a will;
Men who have honor—men who will not lie;
Men who can stand before a damogogue,
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking."

The above quotation was taken from the "Problem of Poverty" by Rustgard. The book expresses throughout the principles of courage and competition necessary to restore us to prosperity.

"The Problem of Poverty" is the book which the superintendent of Santa Ana schools says the preachers of Santa Ana would not want taught in Santa Ana schools.

When such men as President Hutchins of the University of Chicago says grade schools and high schools do not have a good book in their curriculums and when we refuse to have our children read books containing the philosophy of courage and competition like the above, it seems to indicate that President Hutchins' statement as to the kind of books in the schools is about true.

A PRIMARY CAUSE FOR BUSINESS DECLINE

We mentioned the other day that business now was taxed for expansion and that was one of the causes of the decline in business.

Another primary cause for decline in business is that the Wagner Labor Relations act makes it legally impossible for men, with the same ideas who desire to work and produce things, to associate together without the consent of some government bureau.

Every successful business man knows that he is helpless, as far as economically and efficiently producing something that will benefit customers is concerned, unless he is associated with capable, sincere, honest, progressive men who believe in producing the comforts of life as economically as possible. He knows that selecting help and rightly placing his confidence is about all there is in success.

Now that this privilege is taken from the business man, he is little inclined as indicated by the stock market, to enter into an old business, let alone start a new one.

There is a very definite reason for the decline in employment and prices in stocks.

The Nation's Press

NEUTRALITY ISSUE

There are definite indications that President Roosevelt's warlike talk at Chicago when he suggested a "quarantine" for Japan did not win approval of the American people.

Current gossip at Washington is that the White House now knows that there can be no return to Wilsonian internationalism. Congressmen are pouring into Washington with reports that the people will not support any move that will involve the United States in the troubles of the world, and many congressional leaders are prepared to discourage any step in that direction.

The American people are alarmed at the prospects of world war. They fear that the increasing boldness of Italy, Germany and Japan may precipitate rashness in international affairs.

Various Congressmen are reporting that the American people are convinced there is nothing this country could do to alter the policy of the war-hungry nations.

There will be new pressure in Congress for the application of the neutrality act. It may be that a new national issue is forming. Mr. Roosevelt has gained wrong only twice on the state of the public mind. His first misstep was with the Supreme Court issue. But that issue will fade unless there are further gestures from the White House. The Republicans party is beginning to give signs that it will actively push the withholding of application of the neutrality act as a national issue.

It will be difficult for the President to maintain his present position unless he publicly advocates the repeal or amendment of the neutrality act. That legislation specifies that the President shall declare the neutrality act in force when a state of war exists. That provision is the mandate of Congress. The President cannot maintain that a state of war does not exist, since he recognized it, even if he did not name it, in his Chicago address. As the situation stands the President does not follow the law of the land. Such a position is, of course, untenable, even in foreign affairs. The circumstances would seem to require that he either proceed or explain to Congress why it is inadvisable for this country to apply the neutrality act, and ask for its amendment or repeal.—San Bernardino Sun.

Register Clearing House

(The articles under the Clearing House are published for the purpose of an exchange of ideas and are not necessarily the opinion of this newspaper. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.)

Editor Register: In reply to my recent article in your paper Mr. W. F. Rockwell, makes some very positive statements relative to what he terms the new set up in the Townsend Plan, viz. HR4199. May I quote a few, in substance not verbatim, I quote: "Writers against the Townsend Plan say things that have nothing to do with the subject," and again, "The facts about the plan convinces honest people that it is a complete solution of economic ills." "Mr. Arp," says he, "has given slight heed to all the information familiar to millions." He closes with this very significant statement, and I quote him verbatim, "It" (HR4199) "would not cost the taxpayers anything. As the two percent thus collected provides ample funds without touching the taxpayer."

This statement is all inclusive and if true, every word or statement ever written or spoken relative to the Townsend Plan is also true. He further states that I "have not given much attention to Townsend speakers." The inference is that I did not know what I was writing about. In reply to this statement I wish to say I received a copy of Dr. Townsend's first booklet, in which he stated that a ten percent sales tax would provide sufficient revenue, to pay eight million people about sixty years old, a pension of 200 dollars every month as long as they lived. A little later I received a second booklet in which the Doctor stated that a two percent sales tax would pay the 200 dollars per month to the number of people and for the time stated in the first booklet. I got interested, and wrote a half dozen countries, for copy of their pension laws.

I compared all these with the Doctor's plan and found no similarity. Then I secured copies of all available literature on the subject and mailed same to Prof. Abraham Epstein of the New York state university. After some correspondence I arrived at the conclusions stated in my article and have not yet changed my opinion.

I feel sure that you are mistaken when you say that all the millions know about HR4199. You have discussed the Townsend Plan for more than three years, with the beneficiaries. You have never had a meeting of the taxpayers, and voters, to discuss the cost of the plan. If you believe what you say to be true, you would be surprised to go out on the streets of Santa Ana and state that HR4199, if enacted into law would "pay the pensioners and not cost the taxpayers anything," and find voters and taxpayers do not all agree with your statement. You would be surprised to learn that, perhaps five letters opposing the plan to one in favor of it, are sent to congressmen.

For more than three years you have talked to the beneficiaries of the plan, telling them how to spend 200 dollars in 30 days. You have thoroughly convinced the old people of the feasibility of the plan. But now you have a greater task, to prove it to voter and taxpayer, that the pensioners can be paid 200 dollars per month and the cost "will not touch them." Until you convince the taxpayer and voter you will have an anti-congress. The evidence in favor of the pension plan that will convince

Yet England apparently feels that Organized Labor has acted as spokesman for the American people and it will be hard to convince her otherwise.

It is likely that his visit would have accomplished little of any value to either this country or any other country, but it was a gesture of good will.

Millions of people and thousands of civic and social organizations had looked forward to this visit, and we were all anxious to see the man who gave so much for love. He is still the idol of the British people and it will be hard to make them understand our "cold-shoulder" attitude. I fear Labor has begun to wear the "silk topper."

The belated invitation of one of Labor's spokesmen to "come up and see us sometime, but under different sponsorship," is about as discourteous as a people could possibly be.

If Lindbergh had met with such coldness in Europe, when he flew the Atlantic, we might not have been so air minded and aviation might have suffered a serious setback. Courtesy paid in Lindbergh's case and the whole world benefited. Would not courtesy have been better in this instance?

PAUL C. PHILLIPS.

General Hugh S. Johnson

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the Washington wishful thinking about changing the capital gains and undistributed profits taxes, you can hear anything from assurances that all affected financial officials except Herman Oliphant have been won over, to assertions of the President's adamant opposition. In general the prospect of tax reform is bright. There has been softening up in the Administration attitude. [There is talk in the returning Congress of taking this bit in its teeth.]

Everybody frankly fears a new depression. The position taken long ago by this column seems to be more generally accepted, that the restoration of a flow of investment money to the economic mill is the only way to prevent depression. One way to restore that flow would be to amend these tax laws, the present effect of which is to freeze investment.

It is by no means certain that this step alone would do the trick. There is too much fear of uncertainty about other policies, threats and acts of this Administration to give investment money much confidence in getting itself sewed up in the kind of long-term unliquid securities that are necessary in the heavy goods field to restore a sound and balanced prosperity. But it seems to be a growing conviction that while this change alone might not be enough to break down the dam, nevertheless, without this change there is no hope at all.

The most immediate field for heavy private construction is in the utilities where progress and building have been paralyzed for years by governmental threats and competition. The story here is that within government itself a conviction had about been reached that something ought to be done to encourage private investment in the utilities when a little over a week ago, the utilities or their bankers let out such a blast on this subject that the Administration could hardly move at once along the more liberal line it was

The Family Doctor

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene.

PSORIASIS IS AN ANNOYING MALADY WHICH CAN BE VERY HARD TO TREAT

One of the most common of the skin diseases is psoriasis. This condition occurs usually in people who are fairly well. It is distinctly a skin disease although it is believed to have some constitutional background.

Psoriasis appears in people of any age—from childhood to adult life. It may affect either men or women. Usually the condition gets better in the summer and worse in the winter.

Psoriasis has been found from time to time associated with almost any other disease, including particularly the rheumatic diseases. In the treatment of the condition it is necessary to control the entire hygiene of the individual and sometimes, almost regardless of treatment, the condition appears again and again.

In psoriasis, dry, reddish, rounded or oval patches appear on the body, usually on the backs of the arms and the fronts of the legs as well as on the chest and occasionally the scalp. The condition may also spread to the palms or affect almost any portion of the body although it is more rare on the face. The typical psoriasis usually skips the face but it may extend slightly onto the forehead. The condition is more likely to be found on the back of the hands than on the palms and soles of the feet.

In this condition the reddened spots become covered with scales which are of a mother of pearl color. When the scales are removed a tiny bleeding point will be seen where they have been attached.

It is, of course possible for a condition like psoriasis to be subjected to a secondary infection, although this does not occur frequently. The cause of psoriasis is not known. In some instances there may be a hereditary influence. However it is rather rare to see two or more cases in the same family.

It has been suggested that the condition in some was associated with diet, that is caused by a parasite or in infection, that it is due in some manner to a wrong action of the glands, but none of these suggestions has been proved to represent the actual cause in the condition.

It is possible by adequate treatment to bring about relief of psoriasis, at least for a while. This involves the application of a considerable number of different preparations of the skin in various orders, depending on the response of the skin to the treatment.

Sometimes the treatment of the skin with the ointments and the lotions is supplemented by the use of various light rays. Here, again, however, the treatment is exceedingly difficult, since the dosage of both the drugs used and the rays must be modified according to the condition of the skin.

It is customary after the skin begins to respond to the treatment to have a period of soothing treatment. Obviously, therefore, it is not safe or desirable for anyone to try to treat himself for this chronic disease of the skin.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Chiang Kai-Shek shocked the diplomats here and he hit the hand of the Brussels peace-makers. He said the meddlers were merely increasing his difficulties and he wanted to fight it out.

Now, when a losing Chinese general chews a medal of extension of war, he is either bluffing or has a purpose. This time the diplomats fear Chiang is not bluffing. Their private advices indicate he has a plan in his large Chinese sleeve.

As they see it from here it appears to be the old Chinese pillow game, played more belligerently, to wit:

The Japs have practically seized 5 of China's northern provinces and would like to settle down to peaceful occupation. But Chiang has an army of 500,000 routed and outmaneuvered Chinese nearby. He may be able to get them together, thus requiring the Japs to keep their 350,000 occupational troops in those provinces for protection. The idea is to make Japan keep her mailed fist in the North China pillow if she wants to hold it.

Local official scholars are willing to concede the plan probably offers Chiang more hope than Brussels.

The deep inside reason behind this Republican national committee agitation for principle is money. The bell of the cash register at RNC headquarters has rung lately only for "No Sale" disbursements. They cannot get contributors without doing something.

Those figures which spender Hopkins has been furnishing to the press have been somewhat short of sparkling revelations, according to word inside.

Recently Hopkins held a conference of state directors. He asked them for figures on relief roll increases, if any. The state directors replied there had been increases, but not a one had figures to back up his statement.

Hopkins tore out a few locks of hair, told them he would not take guesses and sent them home for the facts.

Mr. Mussolini's hand-fed press romped gleefully upon the anti-Communist pact. The figures of the combined fleets were waved on high. These showed: Japan 200 ships, Italy 206, Germany 77, total tonnage 1,289,969.

What the Italian public was not told was that the three fleets could not possibly fight together and that the lineup of the democratic fleets is: Great Britain 285 ships, France 162, U. S. 325, total tonnage 2,769,074.

In other words, the three democracies are twice as large, and Russia has a few extra.

The government's labor promotion policies seem to work better outside than inside the government.

A report from the commission investigating the five day week for government employees has been indefinitely delayed. It showed the cost would be too high. A few days ago came a public protest from chief of naval operations Leahy because 23 destroyers, in construction, had been delayed by strikes, late delivery of materials and necessary changes in construction.

Now comes Maritime Commissioner Joe Kennedy with his report charging maritime labor abuses, urging restoration of discipline aboard American ships. (Kennedy also charged some outside employers were guilty of imposing long hours, low wages and furnishing cramped quarters).

Apparently everybody's baby has the measles these days.

Today's 1940 Republican prospect—Senator Arthur Vandenberg, age 53, magazine and newspaper editor, author of "Alexander Ham," the "Greatest American," forceful and capable senator for the last nine years. Last year he was the leading candidate against Landon. Borah backed him then but lately his Borah connection has been broken, or slightly bent. Now he is also keeping clear of Hoover and Landon. For this or other reasons the factionalists are not miles ahead of any other candidate in popular mention, his chance of the nomination is at least 2 to 1 better than that of anyone else.

Lawyers at the supreme court court, feels about the various legal points involved in the seating of Justice Black. That is why they keep shooting new petitions to the court every time an old one is rejected. It is not much of a secret that this process will continue until the court makes a definite ruling. "Gentlemen, people have made up their minds to that. Incidentally Black's participation in rulings so far confirms the impression that the net result of his appointment was to give Justice Brandeis two votes instead of just his own. A smart newsman, observing Black's demeanor on the bench, describes him: "A well-fed martyr."

about to take without "losing face."

There is this kind of psychological situation also in tax reform. The demand is strident and general. But the New Deal has a very tender and sensitive skin. It doesn't like to do things under pressure. It never admits a mistake. It may change pace, front and direction but rarely at a time when the air is full of criticism of the course it purposes to abandon. This is too bad for the country, but that is how the boys are and the country will have to put up with it.

A fantastical story about tax reform comes to me from a source that is seldom wrong. It is that British authorities close to Treasury are strongly advising against any modification of its capital gains tax. This is a pip-pip, Great Britain does not tax capital gains. As a result, British money is always Johnny-on-the-spot wherever there is a new oil field to bring in, a new country to open up, or a chance to start any kind of profitable development anywhere in the world.

Under our capital gains tax system (in which our government calls growth of capital income, and taxation) as such, in the year of realization) American money has practically ceased to compete in this field. How could it under a rule of "if you lose you lose all, if you win the government takes it?"

That cuts us off from one of the most fruitful fields of the use of national wealth—the encouragement of world trade by the development of backward countries. Quite naturally the British don't want our tax laws changed.

This is another of our government's well-intentioned blunder. It is destroying this wide field of business and employment in its attempt to activate prosperity by "spreading wealth." It is not activating prosperity—but freezing it. It is not spreading wealth—but poverty.

NEW FEATURES DISPLAYED IN REFRIGERATORS

A kitchen proved line of electric refrigerators, incorporating four major exclusive conveniences, has just been announced by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. This new line of electric refrigerators bears the distinction of being the result of tests in over 100 proving kitchens, under all conditions, in all parts of the world. Four major improvements have been incorporated in the new models.

Large Compartment
Numerous requests from the hostesses for a means of keeping meat longer without meat storage compartment. A large covered meat compartment, finished in white porcelain enamel, located immediately below the freezer, which is the coldest spot in the refrigerator, was designed for the purpose. It holds over 10 pounds of meat.

Why isn't there more space for the storage of fruits and vegetables was also a frequent question of the testers of electric refrigerators that reached the ears of the manufacturer. A large built-in humidity drawer, wide and deep, and enclosed by a solid glass top, in the 1938 models is the answer.

Dial Type Regulator
To provide a closer control of refrigerator temperatures the new line of Westinghouse refrigerators have a dial type regulator more conveniently placed in a new location at the lower front of the cabinet. It is a dual automatic and easily turned to the desired position. Eight positions, "coldest" for continuous operation; four normal operating positions, numbered 2, 3, 4 and 5; and three extra operating positions "economy," "vacation," "defrosting" and "off" switch provide a positive and temperature for every known requirement.

The fourth major improvement, also a result of the actual homemakers' suggestion, is the enlargement of the frozen storage compartment in the freezer. The space enlarged by one third, can store meats, chickens, or frozen desserts, conveniently and easily. The new multi-service tray of this compartment has five-pound ice capacity.

Sans Drudgery

New Tray Lifts

Other features and refinements are Ex-press tray lifts that loosen the ice cube tray from the shelf with a slight touch of the finger and improved storage arrangements secured by the innovation of adjustable height shelves which permit large-sized containers to be put in the foot compartment without crowding. Improved Elect-o-Cycle ice trays with new levers and more flexible center grid.

Humming birds cannot use their legs for walking purposes.

SUNLIGHT FOR BABY PROVIDED

You may not be able to give your baby the stars . . . but you can give the sun! The same summer rays that build healthy bodies are available in sunlamps for use on gloomy winter days.

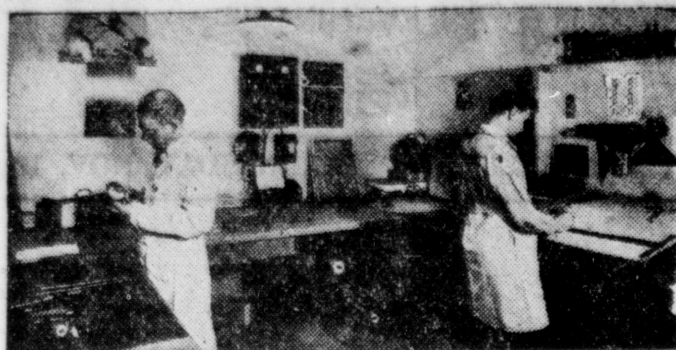

For the growing child, a few minutes a day spent under the sunlamp is as beneficial as its daily cod liver oil in producing sturdy bones, sound teeth, and a little body which need not fear disease.

In fact, a sunlamp for the entire family makes a marvelous gift thought. With one in the home, there would be fewer winter colds . . . and those few easily halted at the first sign of a sniffle.

Muscular aches and pains respond gratefully to the comforting dry warmth and the penetrating powers of the infra-red rays. Elderly persons and invalids welcome the gift of a sunlamp and enjoy its rays. Father will find that it helps keep him fit between one summer's golf and the next.

Above is a section of the Thermador laboratory that controls production of an outstanding line of electrical room heaters, water heaters, bathroom heaters and small portable heaters sold by leading dealers in every community.

THERMADOR PRODUCTS LAUDED BY EXPERTS ALL OVER NATION

Many of the country's leading experts unqualifiedly state that among all of the electrical heating appliances on the market today, there are no finer examples of efficiency, safety, dependability and sheer beauty than those marketed by the Thermador Electrical Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles.

Backed by a name of international repute, these electric room heaters, water heaters, bathroom heaters and small portable heaters are fully deserving, in the opinion of both users and dealers, of unqualified endorsement.

In choosing Thermador electric room heaters and water heaters as products to be especially advertised.

tised to the home owner of Orange County, one leading local dealer recently said: "The selection of Thermador products was made first, because Thermador products are made in the West. Second, because Thermador has been a pioneer for over 20 years in the electric home heating and electric water heating field. Third, because Thermador products are designed and built with models to take care of every type of home heating or water heating requirement . . . every size of home maintenance budget."

MUST STUDY SIZE OF REFRIGERATORS

One of the vital prerequisites in the purchase of a refrigerator is the capacity, whether the purchase is for a gift or for your own home. All well known lines of refrigerators are able to supply the purchaser with an adequate range of cubic foot arrangement and local representatives will be more than glad to give you their expert advice on the size best fitted for individual needs.

One thing to keep in mind is the possibility of an increase in the family so that it is generally advisable to buy a refrigerator of slightly larger capacity than is currently needed.

CALLING all DOGS

By Albert Payson Terhune

STRANGE LURE OF CARRION

City dwellers are spared one form of ghastly annoyance which suburban and country dog owners are subjected to. In cities there are no carrion (rotting carcasses of animals) lying around in the woods to tempt canine nostrils.

The craving of even the most fastidious dogs for carrion has always been a mystery to me and to every other dog man. They do not eat the decaying stuff. But they have a mania for rolling in it. First one shoulder, then the other, is shoved into the putrid mess. Then, in ecstasy, the dog rolls over and over in it. By the time his carrion spree is ended, he is a thing of Abhorrence. Hard scrubbing barely suffice to rid him of the stench.

As I figure it, the habit is based on the dog's queer sense of smell. To him, carrion seems to exhale a divine perfume. Before you blame him too harshly for this odd taste, remember the fondness of countless humans (especially in Europe) for eating game birds which have been allowed to "hang 'till they're high;" in other words, "till they are practically rotten."

Also, how do you suppose your dog likes the reek of rank tobacco or of whiskey or of imported perfumes, which hang about his owner? He hates all these disgusting smells, as we hate carrion. But he endures them for the sake of being near us.

ELECTRIC ROOM HEATERS . . . WATER HEATERS

THERMADOR ELECTRICAL MANUFACTURING CO., 2821 E. PICO BLVD., LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

EXPERTS STATE BEST UTILIZES ELECTRIC HEAT

ating engineers agree that electric house heating is particularly a western specialty. During winter months the climatic conditions are often such that no amount of heat is required except during periods of time, or only during a northern exposure. On the other hand, in some parts of the West there is need for short periods of heating even in summer time. Because of the two extremes of heat requirement, westerners have found electric heat adapts itself to intermittent heat far more readily than any other fuel.

Also, its cleanliness, safety, healthfulness, accuracy of temperature control, ease of operation, comfort and now ECONOMY under new low domestic rates prevalent in the West, have added to its many other advantages of home owners. More than western home has been completely without chimney—a saving in construction far more than offsets the extra wiring involved.

Requirements Given
Where Western homes are completely heated electrically, experience has shown that the installation usually calls for from three to four kw per room, in an average or eight room house. Consumption of electricity for such an installation is not excessive. National adequate insulation of walls is an important factor. It surveys undertaken by utilities show that where adequate insulation has been heating costs have virtually cut practically in half. An factor which aids in cutting fuel consumption in homes electric heat is WHERE SUCH heaters are placed in the rooms. The most advantageous position for heaters, which circulate the air in the room has been found to be directly in front of under the windows. The air is thus immediately heated and instead of falling as it naturally do, it meets the air from the heater and circulates.

By placing the heaters under windows will tend to eliminate drafts from open windows, and circulate the air in a room. In instance the heater serves as a aid to ventilation as well as heating factor. If long draperies are used around window heater should not be placed directly under the window on the outside wall to one of the window. In other words, the heater should always be placed so as to direct the warm currents away from the window rather than toward them.

Use Wall Type
Although many westerners employ other types of general house heating equipment, it is found extremely advantageous to use wall type electric heaters in such places as bathroom, breakfast room, nursery and living rooms to take the chill out of the air when the major house heating system is not used. In words, heating, segregated in the whole house. Portable heaters are, of course, also

The Modern Way

The old drudgery of placing the iron on the stove to get the necessary heat to iron clothes is a thing of the past. Today, irons are things of beauty and efficiency. The heat is regulated in the modern electric iron. Ironing is no longer the drudgery that it was in the long ago.

VACUUM CLEANER HAS HEAD-LIGHT

There is one thing that the discriminating housewife will look upon with much favor. It is the electric vacuum cleaner equipped with a little headlight that shines brightly on the carpet that is being cleaned.

The light is arranged so that there is no question in the mind of the operator how efficiently the sweeper is working, for she can see it function. It means that not one little spot will be missed.

ELECTRICAL WORLD GIVES EVERYTHING

The newest gadget to be attached to the electrical stove is, believe it or not, a cigarette lighter.

Realizing that with the use of an electric stove, matches may not always be handy, the manufacturers have included the lighter along with the electric clock that has become almost standard equipment.

ELECTRIC MIXERS NEEDED

Electric mixers, with a variety of labor-saving devices, are indispensable to the modern kitchen. A few cents per year will pay for all of the current such mixers use and they can be purchased for a few dollars.

In common use and will continue to find popular favor as supplementary heating agents in thousands of western homes where quick heat is needed in definite spots.

SUGGEST NIGHT LAMP AS GIFT

There is a wide diversity of lighting equipment to choose from for the person to whom you desire to make a gift, attractively designed, there are bed lamps and reading lights of all shapes and sizes.

The choice as far as bed lights are concerned should be made in keeping with the personality of the person for whom the gift is intended, and if it is a lamp to be affixed to the headboard of a bed, be sure to bethink yourself whether you should get two, in case there are twin beds.

The bed lamp is one that should be purchased with the idea in mind that the person to whom you give it, will be using it for reading late nights. The shade will determine its fitness, but you will also want to see to it that the lamp can be easily moved or adjusted.

As far as night lights are concerned you will want to consider something soft and dim enough to cause no disturbance to sleepers and yet something that will provide sufficient illumination to make it useful.

Night lights are for those who awake frequently to go about some task, like young mothers who will want to be looking into the baby's room.

The night light has another very important use and that is as a protection for the home. Police officials have frequently urged householders to leave an electric light burning somewhere in the house where the family is asleep or away, not only for the sake of avoiding accidents, but to frighten off intruders who abhor light.

TWO-FACED CLOCK IN STORES HERE

An ingenious invention of a two-faced electric clock is the latest device to catch the eye of the shopper who is seeking something as a gift for the newly married couple.

The clock, designed for a night table between twin beds, has two faces and two sets of hands so it may be placed on the night table in a position where the occupant of either bed may tell the time without turning the clock around.

CHANDLER TELLS OF INCREASE IN SALES OF ELECTRIC RANGES

Electric range sales have doubled nationally, each year for the past four years, according to Ray Chandler of the Ira Chandler & Son Furniture company, Hotpoint franchised dealers in Santa Ana.

"We feel," said Mr. Chandler, "that the Hotpoint line of electric ranges places the Chandler company in a most advantageous position to supply Orange county homemakers with this popular appliance."

Program Outlined
Ray Couch, manager of the Chandler company, is most enthusiastic over prospects for the winter season and has arranged a comprehensive program of display and advertising for the Hotpoint line.

"The Chandler company," said Mr. Couch, "has always attempted to do its part in helping to raise the American standard of living and Hotpoint with its advanced styling, economical operation and fair prices, fits admirably into our program. The recent rise in food costs, particularly meats, has given the electric range an added acceptance with the homemaker who wants to continue to serve appetizing and wholesome meals and still keep within the budget. Hotpoint thrift cookers, alone, have a strong appeal for those women who take pride in serving tasty meals under all conditions."

New Type Cited
"Hotpoint has taken all of the luck out of baking and has released hours of kitchen toil in all ordinary surface cooking. The new high speed Calrod permits steaming, boiling and frying in an amazing short time and from every known test they are proving to be indestructible."

The Chandler company has included in its plans for the coming season a complete kitchen planning service, including kitchen arrangement with working drawings for new home builders and those home owners who contemplate remodeling. These new electric kitchens, designed to have space and steps for the homemaker, include kitchen zoning and lighting, both features which are finding so much favor with those who would raise their standard of living.

Complete Service
In addition to this service, Chandler's are equipped to supply linoleums and curtains for the kitchen, thus rendering a complete service to those progressive people who demand the best in kitchen equipment and furnishings.

Lights The Way

Here's one of the "magic" little electrical sweepers that light the way for the housewife. There's never a doubt in the mind of the operator what is going on with this clever equipment that removes all spots.

DOOR CHIMES GIVE PLEASANT WELCOME

There's a way to get rid of the doorbell or buzzer that rings so harshly or buzzes so much like a bee every time the button outside is pushed by some visitor.

They can be substituted by something much more pleasant—the electrically operated chimes that may be affixed to the doorbell circuit in place of the usual bell that will play a short and delightful little tune to announce the presence of visitors.

According to merchants, the chimes can be had for around $2 and up; and after they have been used to help cheer up the holiday atmosphere, chances are you'll like them so well you'll want to keep them in place of the doorbell all the time.

REPORTS SHOW ELECTRIC RATE DROPPING IN U. S.

Reports by electrical companies show that the trend of rates is downward, and has been for several years. In 1935 the retail value of cigars and cigarettes sold in the United States was $1,506,070,000. The same year the amount received by the utility companies for all electricity sold to all the millions of homes in the United States was $702,682,000, less than half what families paid for the pleasure of smoking.

Offer Special Rates
The more electricity the utility company can sell the lower the prices at which it can be sold. The private utilities have offered promotional rates for electric service to encourage greater use.

Each company must maintain sufficient generating equipment at its central station to be able to care for the "peak load," which means those hours when the greatest amount of power is used, usually just after dark when all the lights in the city are turned on and industrial motors are still turning.

In the late hours of the evening and the early morning hours, the load is not so heavy. But the investment in equipment is still there. If there were more demand for power during these "off peak" hours, the central station equipment would be able to achieve its maximum efficiency throughout the full 24 hours. Thus the volume of business would be increased without the necessity of any major additional investment in generating equipment.

Rated in "Watts"
Appliances are rated in "watts," but a watt is an extremely small amount of capacity and therefore the term "kilo (1,000 watt)." All are familiar with a horse-power capacity which is 746 watts. This means that a kilowatt is approximately 11-3 horse-power. If a kilowatt is used one hour there is one kilowatt-hour of electricity used. If the flatiron is marked on the nameplate "500 watts" and it is used one hour, then 700 watt hours, of 7-10 of a kilowatt hour has been registered on the meter. At the national average rate prevailing for household service today it would cost 3 cents to use a 700-watt flatiron a whole hour.

"SITTING UP" EXERCISER
For those men who think they may be preparing to join the bald-head row at the theater, an electric vibrator is recommended. Most men who enjoy having their head rubbed or backs scratched, would appreciate an electric vibrator for their birthdays. The vibrator gives the body as well as the scalp advantageous exercise.

WIDE RANGE OF GIFTS OFFERED BY MERCHANTS

Merchants of Santa Ana are offering a wide range of electrical appliances, with gifts for young and old being available.

Gifts are discussed in this section with reference to their application to every man, every boy and every girl. Displays of electrical appliances glisten on shelves and counters in eloquent physical confirmation of their appropriateness as gifts.

Major appliances must be thought of as gifts that will last a lifetime. Generous terms are available from retailers who are stocking such major appliances as refrigerators, laundry appliances, and completely electrified kitchens. Appliances like those intended for table use are available in wide price ranges. Think of table and compact model radios, for example.

The list makes it possible to bring the children truly instructive toys—workable models of the housekeeping appliances for little girls, electrical trains for boys and many other things which bring them abreast of their own era and help to prepare them for the world they will find when they grow up.

DEVICE MADE JUST FOR SLEEPY-HEADS

A device which enables the sleepy-head to "lie in" and receive the daily radio program without disturbing the rest of the household is the latest contribution of the radio world. It is a tiny device which can be slipped under the pillow.

The program comes in clearly but with the volume so low that others in the room cannot hear it.

REFRIGERATION NOW AT PEAK OF PERFECTION

Old and obsolete methods of refrigeration are rapidly becoming things of the past. Today, modern refrigeration has reached a peak of perfection.

The improvement in cold control have brought new economies to the problem of housekeeping. The improvements also have brought a new type of efficiency into kitchen management and an entirely new and finer conception of beauty into the homemaker's workshop.

The new refrigerator is something more than a mechanical ice box. It not only provides safe temperatures for the preservation of food in quantities, but it also is a food preparation device in that its variable cold controls make possible the freezing of desserts and the crisping of vegetables.

Its carefully worked out plan of shelf arrangement is actually designed to eliminate the expenditure of unnecessary effort on the part of the housewife who works in the kitchen much as well conceived filing systems in a man's office eliminate the necessity for running hither and yon for needed things.

Saves Many Steps
The latest refrigerator has movable shelves, some of which are arranged in basket or tray form. These make it possible for the housewife to take from the refrigerator in one single move, all the things with which she is going to be working in the preparation of a meal, instead of running endlessly back and forth between her work table and the refrigerator for a hundred and one things.

In addition these movable trays or shelves, the modern refrigerator is scientifically separated into compartments for the separation of stored foods in accordance to the dictates of best homemaking practices. This is another labor saving feature and one which utilizes to its fullest capacity the versatility of the modern electrical refrigerator.

The beauty of design with which the modern refrigerator has been endowed by industrial artists keenly aware of woman's desire for things beautiful as well as those that work efficiently, is setting a pace in kitchen redecoration and planning.

The latest refrigerators are stream-lined, or they are touched with colorful decorations, or they have graceful hardware. They are truly the new and modern interpretation of beauty in the kitchen.

JIMMIE FIDLER IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—Idol Chatter: No one can qualify as a thirty-third degree Hollywoodite without first being the victim of one of Charlie Lombard's practical jokes. Wonder why so many great stars are bored—and so many screen failures are interesting people? Cited for the Croix de Merite: Gloria Stuart—defying precedent, she had her tonsils out without consulting a publicity man. If any more "Guides-to-Movie-Stars'-Homes" set up shop, they will outnumber the tourists. In a class by itself: The stationery of Eddie Marr, screen villain—it is headed "A Message from Marr."

After seeing Virginia Field in her new costume, I have decided it is a great game. Things that amaze me: How Frances Farmer, a level-headed young lady in 1936, can be so snobbish in 1937. The single men who have never dated Rochelle Hudson have formed a club—both of them. Loretta Young is "nervous" when driving a car—and so is anyone foolish enough to ride with her. It's the vogue: Hollywood's more stylish husbands now take rooms in the hospital while the Little Women is there blessed-evening.

Nice Gestures: Fred Stone invariably says "good luck" instead of goodbye. Wonder if Alice Faye's marriage will discourage the mid-Western admirer who has been sending her fan mail proposals on the first of each month? Best off-screen comedy of the week: Jack Oakie teaching Lily Pons to talk American slang—in pig-Latin. Hollywood incongruities: Victor McLaglen's passion for flower culture. Someone must have had a heart-to-heart talk with Simone Simon about the advisability of being nice to people—she is a changed girl since her return from Europe.

Wallace Berry, of all the stars in Hollywood, looks the least like a prima-donna—but any publicity man who has worked with him will admit, if caught off-guard, that Wally is difficult. In one breath he blusters about his contempt for publicity; in the next he waits that he is being overlooked by the press. When the studio arranges an interview with him, he usually manages to insult the reporter while telling him nothing. And then, for the next week or two, he camps on the publicity office door-step, waiting for the story to appear. Not long ago, he announced that he would not give another interview. Instead of arguing, the crafty publicists rushed out every word of copy possible about Wally's greatest rival. Within a week, the would-be Garbo was begging for interviews and threatening to have someone fired if he didn't get them!

An amusing story is making the rounds about Shirley Ross. Seems on the way home from work, she encountered a shabby, barefoot boy selling flowers, and was so touched by his tale of woe that she bought his entire stock at twice the price asked. When she reached home, her mother reminded her that she had the same kind of flowers in her own garden. But her mother was wrong—Shirley looked at her garden and discovered that someone had stolen every blossom. And in the dirt, she found the footprints of a barefoot boy.

M-G-M located midway between three airports, loses thousands of dollars every week because shooting must stop whenever a plane flies over the studio. The other afternoon, watching the filming of a sequence on the back lot, I kept books on the time lost. In exactly two hours, the cameras turned for a grand total of six minutes. And for one hour and fifty-four minutes, the five high-salaried actors and the expensive production crew lolled on the grass, watching the dawning planes—and the poor busi-

MARONEY'S IS S. A. AGENT OF WASHER LINE

Maroney's in Santa Ana is exclusive agent for the "1900 Whirlpool washers" line manufactured by the Nineteen Hundred corporation of Binghamton, N. Y., and St. Joseph, Mich.

Founded 1898
Commenting on the organization that manufactures the line of washers, Mr. Maroney said: "The Nineteen Hundred corporation was founded in 1898. It has been in business 39 years—long enough to demonstrate the reliability and excellence of its products; the wisdom and fairness of its policies."

"Nineteen Hundred builds Whirlpool washers like the finest automobiles: First, in the close limits to which every working part must conform—less than one-half of one-thousandth of an inch. Second, in the heat treatment of all necessary parts. Third, in the systematic inspection at every stage of manufacture, from entry of raw materials to finished product. Fourth, in the progressive movement of every part from stockroom to the final assembly line on the conveyor system—which, after final water and load 'certified tests' land the machines at the shipping dock for carload or truck shipment."

New Finish Cited
Maroney also pointed out that an outstanding feature of all Whirlpool washers and ironers is the new synthetic enamel chassis finish. This finish is not only beautiful to see—it is extremely practical as it affords a hard glossy sheen which is as easy to clean as a china dish.

NOT A HOBBY HORSE
Electric trains—for young or old—are becoming more popular than ever. Many men have electric train construction as chief hobby. This is the age of electricity, still, and hobbies.

ness manager tried to invent new cuss words. Two years ago, after trying a dozen suggested remedies, the studio sent up a captive balloon to warn fliers away. Immediately every pilot in Southern California roared over the studio to investigate the balloon. After that, M-G-M gave up.

Dropped into a Boulevard bright-spot last night and picked up a chuckle. Among the dancers on the floor was a giddy young thing clad in the lowest-out evening gown ever seen in these, or any other parts. At a table near mine, sat Lee Tracy and Cary Grant. Their eyes were on the exposed anatomy; the girl's eyes were fixed on them. They were chuckling and whispering, quite evidently about her; she was excited and proud, obviously convinced that she had made an impression on Hollywood's most eligible bachelors. I strolled over to their table and demanded an explanation. "See that blonde—the big one in the little dress," said Lee. "We're arguing about her. Cary claims she's a nudist making a slight concession to public prejudice. I'm kinder—I think somebody ought to tell her that her dress has slipped."

In a studio cafe today, a recent arrival from the New York stage was damning California. He didn't like the climate or the people. He panned our cloudless skies. Suddenly Spencer Tracy interrupted. "Listen," said he, "if you really want to see something rosy, you ought to try looking at California sky through that four figure check that you're getting each week!"

This week women from all parts of Orange county are viewing Montgomery Ward's newest creations in washing machines and ironers. The new 1938 models are by far the finest ever designed and it is very evident from the enthusiastic comments of all that look at them that the painstaking plans the company took in perfecting this new line were fully justified. It was declared today.

"In the choice of colors, thousands of women were interviewed as to their preference, then actual production was based on the results of these inquiries," a company official said. "Similarly, women in every one of the 600 retail stores were asked which features they liked best in a washing machine, and which they found objectionable. As a result, we find that no longer need machines be oiled."

"We have exceptionally large balloon rollers in ultra-safe wringers made by Lovell, the largest manufacturer of wringers in the world; a new patented agitator that actually washes a tub full of clothes in seven minutes; an all porcelain heavy gauge steel tub; an electric pump for draining the machine, and many other very desirable features that every woman can appreciate.

"Montgomery Ward has always been a leader in the washer and ironer business in Santa Ana, and after viewing these new models, there is little doubt but that they will continue to maintain their position in this field."

BAG POPPERS DEFLATED

ELKO, Nev. (UP)—Patrons of Elko's two theaters saw their shows in quiet after a week's siege in which younger patrons added to the sound of various films by spirited popcorn bag "popping." The management, with cooperation of a nearby confectionery, solved the problem by punching 20 holes in the bottom of each bag.

Well-Equipped Kitchen

MODERN EQUIPMENT CONVERTS KITCHEN DREAM INTO REALITY

Recognized throughout the country as the acme in efficiency, beauty and economy, electric kitchens are rapidly replacing old style methods of cooking.

No longer does Mother or Friend Wife have to struggle with equipment of ancient vintage. Today, the planned all electric kitchen is found in most modern homes, and is recognized as a boon for the busy home-maker.

The electric refrigerator, first hotter than the hands can stand, thus enhancing sanitary conditions and contributing to healthier conditions for the whole family. The woman who does considerable entertaining appreciates its convenience as readily as the home makes responsible for a big family.

Every kitchen—and every housewife—requires a full and instantly available supply of hot water. The new automatic electric water heater, designed to fit the most up-to-date kitchen, is the modern answer to this need. It is extremely efficient and, like the range, completely insulated, so that water is heated without raising the temperature of the kitchen. New cabinet models are thoroughly practical additions to any kitchen and a tremendous improvement over the old unprotected tank which gave off heat into the room as fast as it received it.

Real Efficiency
These four major articles of equipment do not complete the proper order for effective use. kitchen. They must be arranged in Plenty of work space in the form of tables must be provided. Suitable wall and base cabinets are essential for the storage of dishes, equipment and supplies.

The modern woman wants a kitchen as efficient as her husband's place of business. The modern electric kitchen is laid out like the assembly line in an up-to-date automobile plant. Near the outside door, through which food is delivered into the kitchen, is placed the storage and preparation center. First is the refrigerator itself, so that perishables can be placed away safely with a minimum of delay and handling. Next

No Fumes Or Soot

Cooking on top of the range is as quick and efficient as by any other fuel and is without fumes or smoke. And hush—as though the modern range did not already have everything it needed, one of the newest models is furnished with a cigarette lighter.

The electric dishwasher will wash away whole mountain ranges of dishes without the necessity of par-boiling the hands or soaking them for hours in hot greasy water. Yet the dishes are immaculately cleaned by water much to it is the work center at which food is made ready for cooking.

Above and below the preparation counter are cabinets for non-perishable foods and equipment. Beyond this comes the sink-dish-washing unit, with storage space adjacent for china and glass. Finally, the third work center, where food is cooked and from which it is served. Thus the work of preparing the meal moves smoothly in one direction from start to finish, without requiring the housewife to take dozens of unnecessary steps to complete it.

Other Devices

There are other pieces of electrical equipment which the modern kitchen should contain. The electric mixer and the electric disposal unit are important savers of time and work. The coffee maker, roaster, toaster and waffle baker are indispensable kitchen adjuncts. An electric ventilating fan will draw away fumes from cooking and bring in fresh air from outside. A radio which the housewife can enjoy while she is in the kitchen adds to her pleasure and enables her to listen to many helpful household programs at times when the kitchen requires her presence.

Most kitchens are too dimly lighted. A good ceiling light, shaded with an inverted, bowl-type, semi-transparent globe and equipped with a bulb of at least 100 watts, is perfect for general illumination, but supplementary lights are needed over work counters and over sink and range. There should be a sufficient number of appliance outlets, conveniently located, so that several appliances may be in use at the same time.

RATES DECLINE

There is comparatively little monthly cost for electricity in the operation of an all-electric kitchen. Although you will use more current than the average present home, this very fact will entitle you to a reduced rate for current.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA
stands SIXTH in nation
as an Industrial Center

ELECTRICITY BRINGS PROGRESS

THE GROWTH in the population of Southern California has been paralleled by an equally remarkable growth in industrial production. A quarter of a century ago manufacturing was a negligible item in Edison territory. Today it produces nearly one billion dollars worth of goods annually, ranking sixth among all the industrial areas in the nation.

To a large extent this industrial growth, so necessary to sustained prosperity, has been made possible by the availability of abundant, low-cost electrical power. It took courage and foresight to invest millions of dollars in power plants and transmission lines in advance of actual need but when industry did arrive, the power was here to turn its wheels.

Southern California is fortunate that its period of industrial growth has coincided with the advance of the Electric Age. Here we are not hampered by old traditions and practices. To a greater extent than any other section of the country, we know the miracles of clean, silent, efficient electric energy.

The Edison Company is inseparably linked with and a part of Southern California. A local company, owned and managed by Californians,—it grew in response to the needs of the communities served.

NAGGING RELATIVES

Katherine was long and thin and awkward and felt her deficiencies keenly. Her posture was undoubtedly bad. To hide herself and keep down her height, she bent over and scooped down until in truth she might be called a "miserable looking object." But when Aunt Lizzie pounced upon her and let her have that truth full in the face with three other girls present, it was more than the child could bear and she stamped her foot and shouted, "You miserable old thing, I hate you!" and then rushed off to hide and cry.

When mother got back from her shopping trip Aunt Lizzie told her she had been affronted, and asked what in the world was going to be done to rescue this girl from complete failure in every respect. Aunt Lizzie was excited about it, especially about her own hurt feelings. "I've tried so hard to help that child, done everything possible for her and that is what I get for it. Tells me to my face that she hates me. Very well, I'm through. I'll never speak to that child again as long as she and I both shall live."

Katherine, listening up in her room, heaved a long sigh. "If only she meant it," she murmured. "What a break for me."

Father heard all about it when he was resting after dinner. He listened in silence and then he said, "Well, mother, I've been hearing Lizzie after that child now for some time back. She never comes into the room where the child is without saying something about how she looks or how she stands, or how she speaks. The child is never right. Human flesh can't stand it. I've been wondering how it would do to let the child go down and stay with Louise a month. Just for a change from Lizzie's eternal nagging. Get her ready tomorrow."

"But John—"

"No. I've been thinking about this for a long time. You get that child ready and I'll take her down tomorrow. She's got to have a chance to feel free to breathe. We can't put Lizzie out of the house but we can take Katy out of it."

When Aunt Louise met Katherine at the door she was smiling brightly, her hands outstretched to welcome her. "How pretty your hair is. Who did it for you? You must have broken the bank for the beauty parlor lady, eh?"

"No, indeed. I did my hair myself," said Katherine, and the way her head went up and her shoulders lifted gladdened her father's heart.

For a long month Katherine glowed in the sunshine of her Aunt's praise and encouragement. She was still thin, still awkward, but she carried herself much better, and she had the presence of one pleased with herself and the rest of the world.

Father arrived to take her home, and for the first time a shadow crossed the girl's face. "I'll be so glad to see mother. But, Aunt Lizzie—"

LEAGUE PLANS THANKSGIVING AID FOR NEEDY

ORANGE, Nov. 10.—Meeting Monday night at Walker Memorial hall, members of the Senior League of St. John's Lutheran church, made plans to join with other groups of the league in providing baskets for needy families of the community Thanksgiving.

The resignation of Miss Emma Duker was accepted with regrets. The topic for the evening was led by Miss Margaret Krause, who spoke on the subject "Does the Bible Contradict Itself?"

The Misses Evelyn Kogler and Ruth Schroeder were in charge of the cultural topic of the evening and they presented several original skits on the proper way of greeting visitors at church. The recreational portion of the evening was in charge of Miss Edna Bandick and Miss Esther Schultz. Refreshments in keeping with the Armistice holiday were served at the close of the evening. Members present were Mrs. Alfred Priess and the Misses Irene, Ruth and Eleanor Schroeder, Inez and Evelyn Kogler, Esther Schultz, Margaret Krause, Myrtle Schaefer, Margaret Krause, Nona Nichols and Edna Bandick. Guests included Helen Rathke and Gertrude Wichman.

August Heilmann, O. E. Linhart and Harry Riehl were elected directors. The constitution of the organization was amended to place the retired president on the board each year. C. C. Heim, who has served as president last year, will be the first past president to act as a director.

Aid Red Cross
The Rev. E. H. Kreidt made a motion, which was adopted to buy a $5 Red Cross membership for the association. E. E. Campbell, representing Clyde Watson, head of the Red Cross roll call for the district, spoke briefly on the activities of the society and urged support of the roll call, which opens tomorrow and closes on November 25.

The school board was given a rising vote of thanks for their untiring efforts in securing the Olive gymnasium and assembly hall, work on which was begun this week, a $64,000 WPA project sponsored by the school district. School board members are Walter Fairbairn, John Maag and Harry Riehl. Preceding the business meeting President Heim introduced Mrs. O. A. Linnartz as program chairman for the evening. Mrs. Linnartz led in group singing and accompanied her daughter, Yvonne, when the latter played a guitar solo. A piano solo was played by Miss Marvel McClintock.

Tells of Taxes
Willard Smith, chairman of the board of supervisors, told where each tax dollar paid to the district and county goes. He used as an illustration for his talk an average ranch of 10 acres assessed at $260, half its actual value. Taxes on this land were $99.75 the present year, he said. Of this amount, $63.90 went to the district and $35.85 to the county.

Of the district taxes, $47.28 went to schools, he said, while the county taxes the largest amounts went to welfare, $12.78, and general taxes, $10.43. Based on this particular piece of property's value the proportion paid to welfare jumped from $3.02 last year to $12.78 this year, owing to the old are pensions, while school taxes for the district had jumped from $38 last year to $47.28 the present year.

Welfare Costs Increase
The speaker pointed out that if welfare requirements continue to grow as a matter of course taxes will increase and pointed out that California's pension system was drawing many people from the middle west who arrive to establish residences in order to be eligible for the pension after five years spent here.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Henry Lemke, Mrs. A. W. Ames, Mrs. J. Fred Heitsch, Mrs. David Dixon, Mrs. H. J. Crawford, Mrs. Edna Culley and Mrs. Walter Timken. Table decorations were arranged by Mrs. F. B. Maxwell and Miss Frieda Schaf. Runners of autumn leaves, little figures of Puritan maidens, turkeys made of pine cones and small American flags, were arranged down the lengths of the tables.

Ornamental gourds and bright colored fruits and vegetables added a seasonal note of fall harvest. The stage was banked with bouquets of chrysanthemums and fall flowers and the harvest motif was repeated in a colorful arrangement of orange pumpkins, deep purple egg plants, scarlet persimmons and other fruits and vegetables.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THERE WERE NO CHILDREN BORN IN JANUARY BEFORE THE YEAR 700 B.C.

JANUARY DID NOT EXIST UNTIL THAT TIME.

THE SUN CASTS A SHADOW WHEREVER IT SHINES IN THE UNITED STATES, SINCE AT NO PLACE DOES IT EVER SHINE FROM DIRECTLY OVERHEAD.

A DADDY LONG-LEGS HAS SIXTY-FOUR TIMES AS MUCH LENGTH OF LEG AS LENGTH OF BODY.

THE sun never shines directly overhead on any spot in the United States, since the southernmost point of land is about 25 degrees north of the equator, and the sun comes no farther north than 23 1/2 degrees.
